Romeo and Juliet
Shakespeare’s remarkable genre-defying play, which soars to the heights of romantic comedy before plunging into heartbreak. SF Shakes Artistic Director Rebecca J. Ennals continues her historically-based, thoughtfully relevant approach to Shakespeare’s plays with this beloved favorite, filled with some of Shakespeare's most beautifully poetic language. While the doomed lovers will always be remembered for their romantic devotion, this tale of five young lives needlessly wasted could have come straight from today’s Twitter or Facebook feeds. A culture of violence, inherited from past generations, leads young people to harbor meaningless prejudices and commit terrible acts. Shakespeare’s young characters live secret lives unknown to their parents, and love, kill, and die without most of the older generation knowing why. How does a community recover from a culture of violence? Shakespeare leaves us with the possibility of hope and healing, a message much needed today.

Enjoy the Heat but Keep Your Cool!

This summer it’s bound to get hot and with heat comes the danger of heat exhaustion. If untreated it could become heat stroke which is life threatening. When outdoors in the hot weather (or indoors without air conditioning), you should know the warning signs and be prepared to avoid heat exhaustion. Heat exhaustion is brought on when the body’s natural sweating cannot cool the body down enough and this causes overheating. The signs and symptoms are: pale moist skin cool to the touch, profuse sweating, muscle cramps, feeling faint or dizzy, headache, overall weakness, thirst, nausea or vomiting, core body temperature over 100° F, and increased pulse rate. Some people may have any or all of the signs and symptoms above, depending on the person and severity of the heat exhaustion. The treatment is to cool down the body by going into the shade or air conditioning, drinking water or commercial electrolyte drink, and stopping all strenuous activity.

Here are some tips to keep you and others safe:

• Plan ahead when going hiking, picnicking, to the beach or sporting events; even if you are just an observer. Bring and drink lots of water or electrolyte drink. There are lots of recipes on the web to make your own sports drinks or you can buy the commercial ones.

• Don’t forget your pets! They need to drink plenty of water on hot days too.

• Check the weather report on extremely hot days, and plan activities early in the morning or later at night when it is cooler.

• The young and elderly are more at risk, so check on them frequently during periods of extreme heat. Bring an older neighbor a cold glass of lemonade!

• Avoid alcohol or caffeine drinks during heat spells as they increase water loss.

• Wear light colors and loose fitting clothing when it is really hot and when going out for extended periods. Bring along a water mister or fan. There are some great battery operated ones out there. Check the sporting goods stores to purchase one.

• Break up exposure to extreme heat with stops in shady areas or air-conditioned places. I am always up for a stop for ice cream or iced tea!

• Be aware of the signs and symptoms of heat exhaustion and don’t be shy about pointing it out to someone who you feel may be experiencing heat exhaustion, no matter how mild.

Summer Camping and Hiking ‘Bite’ Safety

In addition to bringing plenty of water with you to prevent heat exhaustion, beware of the snakes and ticks. Like in the ‘Old West’ movies, hikers at Northern California parks and wilderness trails also have a danger of running into rattlesnakes, the most common venomous snake in California. Avoid walking where you cannot see the ground in front of you and if you see a rattlesnake give it a wide berth. If you do get bitten, seek help immediately.

Another stealthier pest in the wild is the tick. With some ticks you run the risk of contracting Lyme disease. If you are bitten by a tick, gently grasp the tick with tweezers close to the skin and pull the tick out slowly. If you don’t have tweezers, use your fingers protected with a tissue or rag. Remove any mouth parts left behind, wash with soap and water, and apply a mild antiseptic. If the tick has been feeding for a day or so, save the removed tick alive or in alcohol in case it needs to be tested for Lyme disease later. Most people who have contracted Lyme disease become ill within one to two weeks after being bitten. Seek medical attention if you think this has happened to you.

This year - 2015 - being the 100th anniversary of the famous Panama-Pacific International Exposition (PPIE) held in San Francisco in 1915, "ROOTS" would like to celebrate a local landmark of the PPIE. But first, the back story.

The 1915 PPIE was a grand celebration, commemorating the opening of the Panama Canal and also to showcase the City, newly rebuilt after the 1906 earthquake, not quite a decade before. The huge endeavor stretched for 3 miles along the shoreline of San Francisco from Fort Mason to the Presidio waterfront. On 630 acres of reclaimed Bayfront tidal marsh, 31 nations and almost every U.S. state built exhibit halls, pavilions and attractions connected by 47 miles of walkways. It was said it would take an individual years to see everything at this enormous fair.

The Palace of Machinery was the largest structure in the world at the time, so big a plane flew through it. The Horticulture Palace had a glass dome larger than St. Peter’s Basilica in Rome. The 40-story Tower of Light held 102,000 pieces of multicolored glass, illuminated by electric light at night. When the fog came in, 48 spotlights of 7 different colors illuminated the sky to resemble the Northern Lights. The exposition fair was not so much about history as it was about new technology - from farming to flying to Henry Ford’s Model T auto and so much more.

The buildings were all made to be temporary and just 9 months after the fair opened, it closed in November 1915. Almost 19 million visitors had come from all over the U.S. and from countries around the world. In 1916, the buildings began to be destroyed or dismantled. Some were sold. The last surviving building in San Francisco is the beautiful Palace of Fine Arts. Local Cupertino resident and CHS member, Paula Quinterno’s grandfather, Federico Quinterno was an Italian stone mason and did much of the decorative work on the Fine Arts building. His home in Monta Vista displayed columns and fountains showcasing his fine talents.

And now, a bit about the famous House of Hoo Hoo sponsored by the "Concatenated Order of Hoo Hoos", whose membership at one time extended throughout many of the U.S. states as well as extending into a number of foreign countries. The Hoo Hoos were a Lumberman’s organization and commissioned the well-known architect, Bernard Maybeck, to design the building for the 1915 PPIE as a clubhouse for all lumbermen everywhere. It is said that the term or “Hoo Hoo!” is used as a warning signal when a tree-faller is about to topple a forest giant.

An early Cupertino developer, George Hensley, saw a gold-mine in the Hoo Hoo House, and planned to use it after the fair as a club house/dance pavilion to perk up interest in his newly acquired land in the Monta Vista area of Cupertino. The huge log structure was dismantled, placed on barges, unloaded onto horse drawn wagons at Alviso port and was taken to the top of Stevens Creek Road and what was then known as Inspiration Heights - a high point near what is now Foothill Blvd with a then unobstructed view of nearly 50 miles on a clear day. The exterior logs weighed 8 to 10 tons and the structure included roof trusses and beams, wood partition walls, balcony verandas and interior hardwood paneling from all parts of the world. There was also an observation tower with stairway. The steep part of old Stevens Creek Road that now angles off to the right about halfway up the hill was known in the old days as Hoo Hoo Hill. Prospective auto buyers would tell salesmen, "If this car can climb Hoo Hoo Hill, I’ll buy it!"

The Hoo Hoo House was a lively place on Saturday nights, featuring orchestras and bands playing the musical favorites of the era for some years. Sadly, on August 16, 1928, the Hoo Hoo building passed into oblivion and lit up the entire West Side in a blaze that was visible for miles and lasted for many hours. An era and a local landmark saved from the grand PPIE Fair passed into history.

There are quite a few on-line sites with wonderful histories and beautiful pictures of the 1915 PPIE and even pictures of the Hoo Hoo House.

Get Ready for Cupertino’s Annual Citywide Garage Sale!

Help Cupertino prevent usable goods from being thrown away, and have fun treasure hunting! The Annual Citywide Garage Sale will be held September 19 & 20 this year at participating residences and other private locations throughout Cupertino. Residents and community organizations are invited to register on or after August 10th online at www.cupertino.org/garagesale. If you do not have computer access please call 408.777.3354 to register. Free advertising and a garage sale “How-to” kit will be provided online, or can be mailed if requested by phone. Participants manage their own sales and keep all profits. There is no fee to participate. The last day to register if you want to be listed on the City’s garage sale map is September 4. This is a great way to clear your home of unwanted goods by giving them a new home instead of tossing them in the trash. Don’t have items to sell? If you’re in the market for a household item or just on the lookout for something unique, consider buying used instead of new. Take a walk and discover a hidden treasure!

Saturday, July 18th is Environmental Recycling & Document Shredding Day

Clean out those closets and head to our summer Environmental Recycling and Document Shredding Day with your old/broken electronics, confidential papers you’d like to shred, recycle, and more. It’s Saturday, July 18, 2015, 9 am - 1 pm in De Anza College’s Parking Lot A.

Accepted items:

- Electronic waste (computers, monitors and printers)
- Universal Waste (batteries, cell phones, CFLs and fluorescent tubes)
- Reusable furniture (not dirty, stained, or torn)
- Clothing
- Home construction debris (limited to what will fit in a pickup truck)
- Residential documents (for confidential onsite shredding; two box limit)

Items NOT accepted:

- Paint or toxic chemicals
- Mattresses

For further information, contact Recology at 408.725.4020. Can’t make the event? You can still get rid of unwanted electronics at the FREE e-waste drop off offered for Cupertino residents by Apple Computer (now at 1326 Kiefer Road, Sunnyvale). See cupertino.org/environmental for more disposal details.

Compost Site is Open July 4th Weekend

The City’s free compost give-away site located at 12100 Stevens Canyon Road (across from the Stevens Creek Reservoir) is open Fridays and Saturdays 8:30 – 11 am through October 20, 2015, including the 4th of July and Labor Day weekend. Come boost your garden during the hot summer with moisture-holding compost your plants will appreciate!

NEW Garbage and Recycling Ordinance

Cupertino has adopted new garbage and recycling requirements to keep rotting food out of the landfill and bring more rich gardening compost back to the city. While the changes are mainly for commercial businesses and properties, residents can be aware of and contribute to the City’s waste diversion and greenhouse gas reduction goals too. Many businesses are already voluntarily separating their food waste, but in November, starting with the largest food retailers and restaurants, businesses will be required to separate food waste for composting rather than disposing of it as garbage to pile up in a landfill. Cupertino residents may also participate in the commercial compost program by putting their food waste in their brown cart with yard waste. Apartments will be required to join the composting program no later than July 2018. Find out more at www.cupertino.org/nowaste.

What goes into your brown cart? Organic (compostable) materials include:

- Landscape and garden trimmings such as leaves, grass clippings, shrub clippings, dead plants, etc.
- Food-soiled paper, such as napkins, paper towels, plates, tissues, cups, and take-out containers including pizza boxes and waxed cardboard boxes
- Coffee grounds, paper tea bags and paper filters
- Dairy products
- Pasta, bread and dough products
- All fruit and vegetables
- Meat, fish, and bones
- Processed or prepared foods, such as snack foods taken out of their packaging
- Paperboard milk cartons

Questions? Check Recology’s website recologysouthbay.com or contact the City’s Environmental Services Division at 408.777.3354 or email environmental@cupertino.org to find out more.
Hosting a block party? Summer cookout? July 4th BBQ? Summertime events are great for gathering with old friends and meeting new neighbors, but they can generate lots of waste. Make yours an earth-friendly one by following these green event guidelines:

• Use reusables: Instead of paper or plastic tableware that will be thrown away at the end of a meal, offer reusable (ceramic, glass, reusable plastic, etc.) dishes, cups, flatware, napkins, tablecloths, and more. If you need more reusable items, you can purchase them inexpensively at a local thrift store to keep just for events, or ask your attendees to bring their own cup or plate.

• Set up trios: Give guests the opportunity to correctly separate waste. Offer a bin for recycling, compost, and landfill, and label them (contact the City for stickers to help!).

• No foam: If you do need to use disposable materials, choose compostable paper or recyclable plastic products. Styrofoam products cannot be recycled and must go to the landfill. Similarly, do not choose “compostable plastics” made from corn, potatoes, or other plant material. They do not decompose fast enough for the compost facility the City currently uses, so they must also go to the landfill.

• Buy from Green Biz: Choose food and other party products from local businesses that have achieved Bay Area Green Business Certification. They’ve gone above and beyond to protect our local environment. See a list at www.cupertino.org/greenbiz or search for them regionally at www.greenbusinessca.org.

• Waste not: If you anticipate having extra food, avoid wasting food by telling guests ahead of time to bring a reusable container with them to take home leftovers.

• Buy in bulk: Rather than offering prepackaged snacks, buy in bulk and serve communally to reduce garbage.

• Nix the bottled water: Instead of bottled water, purchase or borrow from a neighbor a water cooler to minimize waste. Place cut citrus or cucumber or other fruit along with ice in the cooler for a special refresher!

• Better paper products: If you do need to purchase paper products for your event, choose unbleached, recycled content products over new material, and especially those made with post-consumer waste (material that someone has already used!). Look for Forest Stewardship Council (FSC) certified products if you buy products made with new paper.

• Food fair: Where possible, choose local, organic, and/or fair trade foods and ingredients for tasty, earth-friendly party fare.

• Waterless activities: Given the extreme drought we are experiencing, plan party activities that do not require lots of water. Instead of playing in the sprinkler or launching water balloons, encourage kids to play tag, bring out the sidewalk chalk, and other waterless games.

National Night Out – August 4, 2015

City Of Cupertino Joins Cities Nationwide For ‘America’s Night Out Against Crime’

In partnership with Target, the City of Cupertino will kick-off the 32nd Annual National Night Out on Tuesday, August 4, 4 - 6 p.m. The event will be held in the Target parking lot (corner of Stevens Creek Blvd & Saich Way). Come and meet Cupertino’s First Responders and join us for free hot dogs, children’s finger printing, face painting, games and prizes. Cupertino’s Neighborhood Watch, Block Leader, Emergency Preparedness, Sustainability and Parks and Recreation programs will also be on hand.

National Night Out (NNO) is designed to: (1) Heighten crime and drug prevention awareness; (2) Generate participation in the Neighborhood Watch program; (3) Strengthen and promote spirit within neighborhoods; and (4) Send a message to criminals that neighborhoods are organized and fighting back. Later that night, neighborhoods throughout Cupertino are encouraged to continue the celebration along with 11,000 communities from all 50 states, U.S territories, Canadian cities and military bases around the world. You can do this by turning on your porch lights and spending time with your neighbors. What a great night for a neighborhood potluck, dessert exchange, ice cream social or a book swap.

For more information or to register your neighborhood for National Night Out visit www.cupertino.org/nnno.
