As we’ve seen recently, not every day is a sunny day. The aftermath of the September 11 attacks in 2001 and Hurricane Katrina in 2005 have particularly emphasized the need to ensure children’s physical and psychological protection. According to a recent national survey commissioned by the Children’s Health Fund, approximately 65 percent of families in the United States do not have an emergency plan of which all family members are aware.

With this fact in mind, Sesame Workshop created “Let’s Get Ready! Planning Together for Emergencies” in collaboration with the Department of Homeland Security’s Ready Kids initiative and the Ad Council’s ongoing emergency preparedness effort. Ready Kids is geared toward older children, while the Sesame Workshop component is primarily targeted at 3 to 5 year-olds.

The multiple media resources seek to help the entire family prepare for unexpected events. “Let’s Get Ready” explains in an age-appropriate way how each member of a family, including the youngest, can contribute to an emergency readiness plan.

The resources include a Sesame Street DVD, a magazine for parents and caregivers, and a children’s activity book. In the DVD, Sesame Street Muppets Grover and Rosita playfully discover simple tasks they can complete with their families to be prepared. The DVD and all the other “Let’s Get Ready” materials are based on research and recommendations from experts in emergency and trauma preparedness, pediatrics, mental health, and child development. In addition, the Workshop collaborated with Weill Cornell Medical College’s pediatrics department to ensure the materials are age appropriate and effective.

The materials also provide parents and caregivers with the tools to discuss emergencies with their young children. Jeanette Betancourt, Sesame Workshop’s vice president for outreach and educational practices, says adults can introduce children to the preparedness topic by recognizing the ways families already prepare for unexpected events in their daily routines.

“The best way we know to look at emergency preparedness is really from the scope of making it non-threatening, taking advantage of everyday moments to incorporate it, and doing it in a way that includes young children,” Betancourt explains. “The best way to do that is to pick up on daily routines.”

It’s important for parents and caregivers to know, too, that this preparation doesn’t need to take a lot of time from a busy family’s routine. “Let’s Get Ready” explains, for example, adults can point out emergency locations like hospitals and police stations while walking their children home from school. So let’s get ready! After all, getting a plan together takes only a few simple steps and it can ensure that families have many sunny days ahead.

Thanksgiving Reflections

Thanksgiving is a distinctly American holiday. It celebrates neither a battle nor the fall of a great city. It does not mark the anniversary of a great conqueror or the birthday of a famous statesman. The American Thanksgiving Day is the expression of a deep feeling of gratitude by our people for the rich productivity of the land, a memorial of the dangers and hardships through which we have safely passed, and a fitting recognition of all that God in his goodness has bestowed upon us.

In early New England, a Thanksgiving custom was to place five kernels of corn at every plate as a reminder of the first winter when food was so scarce that only five kernels of corn were rationed to each individual.

The Pilgrim fathers wanted their children to remember the sacrifice, sufferings and hardships through which they had safely passed, a fitting hardship that made possible the settlement of a free people in a free land. They wanted to keep alive the thought of that stern and rockbound coast, its inhospitable welcome and the first terrible winter, which took such a toll of lives. They did not want their descendants to forget that on the day in which their ration was reduced to five kernels of corn, only seven healthy colonists remained to nurse the sick, and nearly half their members lay in the windswept graveyard on the hill. They did not want to forget that when the Mayflower sailed back to England in the spring, only sailors were aboard.

The use of five kernels of corn placed by each plate was fitting reminder of a heroic past. Symbolically, it may still serve as a useful means of recalling those great gifts for which we are grateful to God.

Happy Thanksgiving to all!

Neighborhood Block Leader Training Focuses on Cultural Communication

Thursday, November 13, 5 - 8:30 pm, Cupertino Community Hall. Dinner will be provided.

Participants will learn how to meet neighbors and plan a Neighborhood Watch meeting, emergency preparedness meeting, or block party. Attendees will also hear from fellow block leaders, Cindy Chang, Hema Kundargi, and Fariba Nejat about how to connect with neighbors from China, India, and Iran. Some of the common ways that people from their cultures socialize, greet one another, give gifts, and celebrate will be discussed.

America Recycles Day
Almost Everything Can Be Recycled

On November 15, millions of people will learn about recycling, commit to increasing their recycling activities, and plan to purchase more products made from recycled materials. America Recycles Day helps remind all Americans of our nation’s bountiful resources and of our personal responsibility as stewards to care for those resources. In the spirit of America Recycles Day, the following are some things you can do to make a difference for the environment:

Reduce: When shopping, avoid over-packaged goods; buy in bulk when possible; only buy what you need. Outdoors, leave grass clippings on the lawn and consider composting other yard waste.

Reuse: Avoid single-use throwaway products when a durable, reusable alternative is available. Support thrift shops and other programs that provide access to used items. Donate things so somebody else can use them.

Recycle: Buy more recycled content products. Increase recycling at home, school and work. To find out how to recycle just about anything, visit the Recycling Hotline: www.recyclestuff.org. To find out more about recycling in Cupertino, visit the city’s website at www.cupertino.org/environmental, and click on recycling.

10 Things You Can Do to Protect the Climate

The city takes its task of community stewardship seriously, which includes resource conservation and pollution prevention. Here are 10 things you can do to help protect the environment:

1. Drive Smart – Cut down on speeding, rapid acceleration and heavy braking. Inefficient driving can reduce gas mileage by 30%.

2. Pull the Plug – Disconnect electronic devices that are not in use. Passive usage now accounts for 10% of all home energy use.

3. Think Before You Fly – Take vacations closer to home and use teleconferences for work meetings. Air travel is one of the fastest-growing producers of greenhouse gas emissions.

4. 2 Degrees = 2,000 Pounds – Set the thermostat 2 degrees higher in the summer and lower in the winter to save one ton of carbon emissions yearly.
5. Turn off the Tap – Save water and save energy: 20% of electricity and 30% of natural gas in California is used just to transport, treat and heat water and wastewater.

6. Light Right – Replace incandescent light bulbs with compact fluorescents that use 60% less energy.

7. Take the Oil Out of Your Food – Buy more local groceries and products instead of items that must be transported long-distance.

8. Lose the Trash – Use products with less packaging. Manufacturing, transporting, and disposing of packaging all contribute to greenhouse gas emissions.

9. Cancel Your Carbon – Calculate your greenhouse gas emissions, then pay to “offset” the damage by funding alternative energy, reforestation and other green actions.

10. Be Loud – Talk to your clients and vendors, community leaders and elected officials. Tell them you want climate protection to be “business as usual.”

Switch From Wood To Gas

Limited Rebates Available

The Bay Area Air Quality Management District is offering rebates when you replace your woodburning appliance with one that uses natural gas. Switching from burning wood to using gas will reduce air pollution and improve air quality in Cupertino.

The following rebates are offered:
- $100 to retrofit an existing fireplace by installing a new gas log set or a new insert.
- $300 to replace an existing woodburning stove or fireplace insert (must be 1990 or older) with a new gas appliance. Your old woodstove must be scrapped at Pick Your Part in Milpitas.

You do not need to install a new gas line in order to be eligible. New gas appliances may be purchased anywhere. Since funding is limited, there is no rebate guarantee. First come, first served. To check availability call (1-800) HELP-AIR or for more information about the program, visit www.sparetheair.org.

Woodburning Tips

The burning of wood in fireplaces and woodstoves is a major source of air pollution during the winter months. Those cozy wood fires unfortunately contribute up to one-third of the particulate matter in the air on cold, still winter nights. Particulate matter is a health concern especially for children, seniors and persons with respiratory problems.

Here are a few tips on how to reduce the pollution in your neighborhood:
- Instead of wood, use manufactured fire logs (they burn 50% cleaner)
- If you burn wood, make sure it’s dried or “seasoned” for six to 12 months
- Never burn garbage or chemically-treated wood
- Consider switching to a gas fireplace (for the ambiance of a wood fire without the gases and the pollution)

To get an illustrated copy of the California Air Resources Board’s Woodburning Handbook, call our local air district offices at 800-HELP-AIR, or view on-line at www.sparetheair.org under “Site Index”. You can also find the free handbook at the Quinlan Community Center and City Hall.

Bring your own Reusable Shopping Bag

Save money, reduce waste and make a difference by bringing your own reusable shopping bags. There are now many colorful, convenient, stylish bags available at retailers everywhere!

Did You Know?

- According to the EPA, Over 350 billion plastic bags, sacks and wraps are consumed in the U.S each year.
- If Californians cut their plastic bag waste in half, it would save over two thousand barrels of oil a day.
- One reusable shopping bag can replace hundreds of single use bags over its lifetime.

Not only do many stores offer reusable bags at a nominal sale price, they also offer financial incentives to shoppers who bring their own bags:

- Trader Joe’s – Raffle ticket given to enter a $50 monthly drawing
- Whole Foods – 5¢ cent credit per reusable bag or donation to a local organization
- Nob Hill – 5¢ cent credit per reusable bag
- Safeway Stores – 3¢ cent credit per reusable bag
