Residents and businesses in Santa Clara County currently receive energy from one provider: PG&E. That may soon change. Cupertino, as part of its participation in the Silicon Valley Community Choice Energy Partnership (SVCCCEP), is studying opportunities to buy cleaner, greener electricity at competitive rates. If deemed viable, participating Santa Clara communities will pool the electricity demand of residents and businesses and buy power for them. It’s similar to buying in bulk or participating in a co-op.

Under community choice energy, a new locally-controlled nonprofit would buy electricity from renewable energy sources at competitive prices, helping to green our grid and achieve the City’s Climate Action Plan goals (see: cupertino.org/green). PG&E would remain an essential partner, continuing to deliver electricity over existing infrastructure to Cupertino customers and continue to maintain the lines. PG&E would also continue to send bills and provide customer service.

This type of program is already successful in Marin and Sonoma Counties. Both offer electricity with higher levels of renewables at lower prices than PG&E. Plus, customers can opt up to 100% green energy for a little extra (~1 cent per kwh). Customers can also choose to opt out and remain with PG&E.

The new locally-controlled nonprofit would be completely funded by program revenue, not by taxes or by city or county general funds. Because there are no shareholders, revenue is reinvested to develop additional local energy projects and new rebates and incentives for customers, creating local jobs and spurring economic development.

Due to the success of this program in the North Bay, communities across California are also considering launching this type of energy service. Alameda, San Francisco, Napa, Contra Costa and San Mateo are just a few. Your Silicon Valley Community Choice Energy Partnership currently has four members: the City of Cupertino, City of Sunnyvale, City of Mountain View, and County of Santa Clara (for unincorporated communities). During the next few months, other cities in the county will also be deciding whether to join the partnership. Interested in learn more or sharing your ideas on what energy programs you’d like to expand here in Cupertino? Please attend an upcoming community meeting or share your feedback at: svcleanenergy.org.

Don’t Fall in the Fall!

Falls are the top cause of injuries for the elderly. Actually everyone should always be aware of possibly falling no matter what the season. Making your home and property safe from unintended falls is easy, if you know what to look for. Making your yard safe from falling is also a good idea, especially now that the weather-folks are predicting a wet and likely slippery winter and spring season.

Look through your home for the following tripping hazards and correct them.

• Clutter in the hallway and on staircases is a major cause of falling.
• Slippery throw rugs, loose carpet, and wood floor boards which stick up or are uneven are real tripping hazards. Never run wires under the rugs, they not only make it traction poor, but present a fire hazard as well.
• If you are unsteady or elderly, install grab bars in the tub and shower area and make sure all stairs have good solid railings, preferably two on each staircase.
• Use non-slip shower and tub mats. Make sure you are stepping out of the shower or tub on a non-slip rug. If you put in new tile on the bathroom floor, make sure it is non-slip tile. Any other room where there is likely to be water, like in front of the sink or in the laundry room, use a non-slip rug or pad.
• Make sure all areas around the house are well lit, especially stairways.
• Look around for your pets that may be sleep- ing nearby before getting up from the couch or chair.

On your yard and walkways look for these tripping hazards.

• Make sure you don’t have an accumulation of leaves in the walkways, or driveway. Leaves and other debris get wet when it rains or the lawn sprinklers hit them and can be slippery and present a tripping hazard.
• Clean up clutter in the garage and storage shed at home. A cluttered floor means stepping over items creating a tripping hazard.
• Clear away downed limbs and keep the lawn mowed to a length where you can see items which may trip you.

Outdoor Cleanup for Fire Safety

With the dry summer season, things are pretty dry and some of your yard plants may have died. If you have long dry grass, dead branches, or dead decorative plants close up to your house, you are in danger of a wildfire spreading to your home. Fire Departments recommend having a 50 foot defensible space around your home. This means nothing that will easily catch fire within 50 feet of the home. Even if you live well within the city you’re not necessarily safe from a wildfire because embers from a nearby wildfire can travel a mile or more if it’s windy.

This year is Cupertino’s 60th anniversary. We were incorporated as a city in 1955. A delegation from Cupertino is visiting Copertino, Italy in September and October this year.

Every year students and newcomers to our lovely town ask for information on how Cupertino got its name. Cupertino’s first and foremost historian, Louis E. Stocklmeir, wrote extensively about the name and its possible beginnings. The following is an excerpt from a paper Louis wrote about the fascinating origins of our town name.

“The name used to designate the arroyo by the early Spanish explorers of what is now known as Stevens (formerly Cupertino) Creek was “Arroyo de San Joseph Cupertino”. This arroyo was named (by De Anza expedition diarist and cartographer Petrus Font) after Saint Joseph of Cupertino, born at Cupertino (Italy) diocese of Nar- do June 17, 1603. Family name Desa. Beatified 1767. Canonized 1767.

“Copertino” a present day town in southern Italy is situated in the heel of the “Italian boot” in the region of Puglia, province of Lecce, about 90 miles from Bari and 50 miles from Taranto. Some of our local writers endeavor to relate its derivation to the Italian noun “Coperto” literally translated to mean “cover”, “wrapper”, “jacket”. The “u” in Cupertino is attributed to the Latin influence.

The northern and southern regions of Italy were subjected to a great number of invasions and conquests; notably Hannibal (circa 200 B.C.) who conquered the Iberian Peninsula, crossed the Alps and defeated Roman armies in Italy - his conquest ended when he was later defeated by the Romans. Historians wrote of a citadel or fortress built to resist Hannibal, part of which remains, in the vicinity of “Copertino”. The citadel ruins were razed in 1415 A.D. to allow the erection of the Convent of San Francisco alongside the Greek church of St. Nicholas. The area was in turn invaded by the Byzantines and Normans at different times. Other early invaders included Henry the 4th, Emperor of Germany, King of Puglia and Sicily, the Anjous who were allied with the Prince of Albania - later on, the Aragonese (Spaniards) and still later, Garibaldi, who unified modern Italy. As a consequence of these early invasions, the names “Cupertino” and “Copertino” reach far back into Italy’s history.

The name “Cuperio”, a leader of refugees from the southern towns ravished by Goths in 615 A.D. and again by the Moors in 900 A.D., has been suggested as a possible name source for Cupertino.

Historian Marciano wrote the territory of “Cupertino” was founded sometime after 560 A.D. following Goth invasions, and alluded to the refugee leader, “Cuperio”.

Historian P. Bonaventura de Lama seemed to follow a version that the word “Cupertino” was also derived from the refugee leader, “Cuperio” who consolidated the refugees from the ravished and destroyed southern towns following Goth and Saracen invasions.

Pope John X and the Italian princes of fiefs of what is now southern Italy expelled the Turkish tribal armies from the Cupertino territory - circa 915 A.D. In the year 1266 A.D. Charles the First of Anjou (son of Louis VIII) particularly favored the Cupertino territory, conquered Naples and Sicily and divided the territory into provinces, making Cupertino a provincial capital. Charles appointed one Gualtieri d’Enghien di Brenna - Duke of Athene and Count of Lecce and the Duke/Count built a castle there adorning by a stone inscribed “Gualtieri di Brenna Comes Cupertini” (Gualtieri di Brenna - Count of Cupertino)

All Latin inscriptions spell “Cupertino” with a “u”, also ending the word with “i”. Several tombs and epigraphs of the region bear inscriptions with the name of the dignitary and the place name, “Cupertini”.

“Copertino” seems to be a word of later origin. “Cupertino” predates the word “Copertino”, hence the reference to San Joseph of “Cupertino” and the spelling of the name by Father Pedro Font. It would seem that our City’s appellation of “Cupertino” follows the original name given to the area now named “Copertino” Italy – the words are synonymous and distinctive and fittingly applied to their respective localities.” (Conclusion of Stocklmeir’s account)

Reaching back over the centuries, it is evident the name of our town has a fascinating and varied history. It would be interesting to hear from any of our “ROOTS” readers who have traveled to the Cupertino/Copertino region of Italy.

Let the guessing begin as the destination will only be revealed just prior to our arrival at the airport.

"Share Discovery Through Travel"
As this year’s rainy season begins, residents should prepare for the possibility of flooding in their neighborhoods. Be aware that standard homeowner’s insurance policies do not cover losses caused by floods or mudslides. Property owners can protect against potential flood damage by purchasing flood insurance and by preparing a family disaster plan. If you currently possess flood insurance, be sure to inventory and photograph your home’s contents and put important papers and insurance policies in a safe place. Some Cupertino properties along Calabazas and Stevens Creek, are at increased risks for flooding.

Floods, as with all natural disasters, are a hazard to people and property. Prepare for emergencies accordingly by creating a family disaster plan that includes a designated place where you can rendezvous after an evacuation order is issued.

The City of Cupertino provides the following services to help residents prepare for potential flooding. Visit the downstairs counter at City Hall or call Public Works 408.777.3354 or the Building Division 408.777.3228 to receive assistance:

1. In the fall, before the rains start, City crews vacuum out city storm drain inlets, and check for any evidence of hazardous materials in the drains. This cleaning prevents any illegally dumped materials that may be sitting in the inlets from washing into our creeks with the first rains.

2. The Public Works Department will help you find out if your property is in a flood zone and answer questions about flooding risks and elevation certificates for new buildings constructed in the floodplain.

3. Building Division staff will assist you with obtaining a required permit before you build. Booklets called “What You Should Know Before You Hire a Contractor,” are available at the downstairs counter at City Hall, or online at cslb.ca.gov/About_Us/Library/Guides_And_Publications/.

4. Public Works staff will provide you with practical drainage tips, such as directing your roof downspouts away from your house and into landscaping or a more site specific response to drainage issues.

5. Other information on flood preparedness is available on the Cupertino website at cupertino.org/emergency. Flood information and assistance can also be obtained on the FEMA website at fema.gov. The Cupertino Library also holds publications for flood preparedness.

Sweep Smart this Storm Season to Prevent Flooding

- The City’s storm drainage system is comprised of street gutters, the storm drain sewer inlets (at street corners), and the pipes that drain street runoff into local creeks and channels. It is ILLEGAL to dump anything into a creek or a storm drain. Residents can report dumping incidents to the City by calling 408.777.3269 or 408.777.3354 during business hours and 911 after hours and on weekends.

- Please notify the City if you observe excess debris or trash in streets, storm drain inlets or streams and ditches.

- City streets are normally swept twice a month. During heavy leaf fall, additional sweeping may occur on your street. Park off the street on your sweeping day and when you observe additional sweeping.

- Signup for street sweeping notification at cupertino.org/streetsweeping and call the City of Cupertino at 408.777.3269 with any questions.

- DO NOT rake, blow, or pile leaves into the street—this can increase flooding and send unwanted organic debris to the creeks!

- Clean your rain gutters and attach flexible corrugated pipe extensions to drain downspout water to landscaping—this helps recharge our ground water table!

- Deposit leaves in your yard waste collection cart. If you need an additional yard waste cart in heavy leaf fall areas contact Recology Customer Service 408.725.4020, City of Cupertino Environmental Programs 408.777.3354, or email environmental@cupertino.org.

- Abide by street sweeping / no parking signs to allow the City to keep the gutters clean and the storm drain system flowing.
Compost Site Closed for Winter

As of October 17, the City of Cupertino’s compost site at 12100 Stevens Canyon Rd has officially closed for the rainy season. Be sure to drop by when the compost site opens again on March 26, 2016 and pick up free compost to help your garden spring into action! For more information on Cupertino’s compost site, contact the City at 408.777.3354 or environmental@cupertino.org.

Challenge Yourself To A Zero Waste Lifestyle

Cupertino has extraordinary schools and abundant local brain power, so the community doesn’t need help making smart decisions. The City is partnering with Clean Water Action and several other cities to promote ReThink Disposable, a campaign to engage local restaurants and delis in allowing their customers to choose how much litter-prone packaging they take away with their food and drink orders.

Business owners say they’re interested in reducing disposable packaging, but don’t want to stop offering the amenities their customers have come to expect. As a community, we can show them that sustainable cities expect something different. Straws, cup lids, packets of condiments, soy sauce, pizza peppers, chop sticks, plastic serviceware and other free items are often packaged in take-out orders without asking the customer whether they are needed or wanted. Consequently, after a meal many of these unused or unnecessary items go straight into the trash, or may become street litter.

The community can slow down the trend to over-package and generate unnecessary waste by asking restaurants and food vendors not to include unwanted items with our order and by taking only what we need. When given the choice, bring your own reusable coffee cup and water bottle to make a real impact daily!

We all recycle, right? Most Cupertinians put their food scraps, dirty paper towels and dirty napkins in their yard waste cart to be commercially composted. Some pick up free compost from the City’s distribution site for their gardens and landscape projects. A community, like Cupertino, that wants to lead the way in environmental stewardship will take the next big step, as demonstrated by an astute group of Homestead High students from Mr. Carmona’s AP Environmental Science class last May. These talented students designed, produced and sold attractive "Ecotasa" reusable cups with matching reusable lids and straws in assorted transparent colors to their friends and fellow students and encouraged HH’s student body to stop using disposable cups at fast food restaurants. Un-packaging is the trend of the future. Email City staff at Environmental@Cupertino.org if you have anything to say about ReThinking disposables!
