November is the month that signals the season of gratitude. This issue of the Scene focuses on some of the things we can be thankful for in our community.

— See Inside For More

PLUS

- HONORING OUR HEROES ON VETERANS DAY
  Page 5

- LAUREATE TO BRING POETRY TO CUPERTINO
  Page 6

- DON’T FORGET ABOUT THE CITY’S SMALL BUSINESSES
  Page 8
FOOD SCRAPS AREN'T GARBAGE

WHEN FOOD SCRAPS ARE SENT TO THE LANDFILL THEY EMIT METHANE, WHICH IS 25 TIMES MORE POTENT OF A GREENHOUSE GAS THAN CARBON DIOXIDE.

ADD FOOD SCRAPS TO YOUR YARD WASTE BIN

CUPERTINO COMPOSTS & SO SHOULD YOU
WWW.CUPERTINO.ORG/COMPOST
It’s been said that the more you take, the less that you have. On the flip side of that is the more you give, the more you get in return.

It’s good to remind ourselves of this every so often. Especially since our society is becoming more and more transactional. “I’m happy to do this for you, but what will I get in return?” we ask.

In truth, research has shown over and over again that being generous with our time, money, and resources boosts our physical and mental health. In short: Giving is good for the giver.

A recent, and local, example of this is Monta Vista High School student Karen Ma who spent her time going door-to-door around Cupertino asking if her neighbors would be willing to plant a tree. Karen didn’t go looking for accolades or for the City of Cupertino to pay her for her time. Instead, she told the City Council later, she did it because she cared and wanted to do the right thing by her community and the world.

So what happened? The City ended up having one of the best tree plantings ever at last year’s Arbor Day. The Cupertino City Council did eventually present Karen with a proclamation. But that was far after the fact and without expectation. That’s commendable.

But Karen isn’t alone. Cupertino is lucky enough to have quite a few residents and local organizations willing to give their time for the betterment of the community.

I’ve found that volunteering in ways that interest us is the best way to add value to those around us. When we’ve bought in to the cause, whether it’s feeding the homeless, teaching English to non-native speakers, or volunteering at a local school, the more selflessly we’re willing to give ourselves to ensuring a positive outcome.

Luckily, there are plenty of ways to give back in Cupertino, whether you’re a youth or adult. You can become a Block Leader, join the Citizen Corps, clean a creek, become a Leader in Training, or join a City Commission.

I encourage you to at least browse the City’s volunteer opportunities at www.cupertino.org/volunteer.

With all that’s going on around us, from the national political landscape to the natural disasters, remember that we’re all in this together. And creating a healthier world and positive future can start right here at home.

David Brandt
City Manager
PROUD TREE HUGGER

Last month, the Cupertino City Council recognized Monta Vista High School student Karen Ma for her efforts to promote the planting of trees in Cupertino. Karen has spent the last six years of her life on this effort. She’s volunteered with the City, gone door-to-door asking residents if they would like to plant a tree, assisted in the formation of the Silicon Valley Tree Planters, and created the website www.balanceourcarbon.com.

TA KING THE PLUN GE

Fifty-five dogs showed up with their humans in tow for the first ever “Pooch Plunge” at Blackberry Farm. The entrance fee was $10 with all proceeds going to benefit the organization Best Friends, which is aiding canine hurricane victims. The pooches had a grand time playing, socializing, and (of course) swimming. Feedback from the humans was positive, so staff plans on making this an annual event.

FOUNTAIN OF YOUTH

Sometimes you don’t know what you’ve got until it’s gone. After years of being off due to the drought, the Civic Center Plaza fountain was turned back on in May. As the saying goes, “If you build it, they will come.” It turns out that works for fountains too. Once the water came back, children and families showed up in waves. Unfortunately, all good things must come to an end. The fountains were turned off in October. But they will be back on in the spring.

Stay In Touch:
On Saturday, November 11 members of the community will come together as one to honor and thank all of the men and women who have served in the United States Armed Forces. The event will start at 11 a.m. at Memorial Park, 21121 Stevens Creek Boulevard.

This year’s annual Cupertino Veterans Day Ceremony will commemorate the 11-year anniversary of the dedication of the Cupertino Veterans Memorial. The event will include a performance of the National Anthem and bagpipes, a placing of a wreath, as well as an invocation and benediction.

The guest speakers this year include retired Marine Corps General James M. Myatt and retired Rear Admiral Steve Oswald, a former NASA astronaut and military test pilot.

The Cupertino Veterans Memorial includes a statue of “The Two Defenders.” The two soldiers represented are Cupertino’s own Matthew Axelson, and James Suh. The two Navy SEAL’s who died fighting the Taliban in Afghanistan during Operation Red Wings in June 2005.

For more information on the Veterans Day Ceremony and Cupertino Veterans Memorial, visit www.cupertinoveteransmemorial.org.
In October, the Cupertino City Council approved the Cupertino Library Commission’s recommendation to appoint Kaecey McCormick as the new Cupertino Poet Laureate. Kaecey is a poet, writer, artist, and teacher.

The Cupertino Poet Laureate is a two-year, volunteer position sponsored by the City of Cupertino and seated in its Cupertino Library. Sponsors and support network include the Library Commission, Friends of the Cupertino Library, and the Cupertino Library Foundation.

Following is an interview the Scene held with Kaecey:

SCENE: What is it about poetry that originally caught your interest?

KAECY: I think it was poetry’s magic of capturing emotions on paper that first caught my interest. It is this same magic which keeps me returning to it. When I was a little girl, I was dumbstruck by the way poets took words, and in only a few lines, were able to put me in the experience there with the speaker.

Instead of seeing a story unfold, I felt it – no matter the subject or action: gazing at a flower, standing at a grave, contemplating dinner. It didn’t matter because the poem helped me experience it too.

I love word and sound play, and poets generally do these things well. It’s fun and exciting to hear familiar words used in unfamiliar ways. So hearing the different sounds of the language I thought I understood, and how poets combined this with the emotional side of poetry, definitely caught my interest.

SCENE: What has poetry brought to your life?

KAECY: So many things have brought poetry to my life, it’s hard to name only a few. Every day when I hear music, the lyrics and songs remind me that we are surrounded by poetry. My children have brought poetry to my life because kids often say or describe their feelings and experiences in unexpected and surprising ways. I try to take note and remember to have the same courage when I express myself in poems.

Reading has also been instrumental in bringing poetry to my life, though it isn’t simply the reading of poetry. Reading fiction, nonfiction, my students’ essays... these all have shown me the different ways words and meaning work together to form ideas, comparisons, emotional undercurrents, descriptions and so on.

And I think above all else, being open: listening to people and ideas, being willing to take five minutes to really read what someone has written in a note, being ready to observe without judgment. This openness has made it possible for poetry to seep... into my life in unforeseen places.

SCENE: Why did you apply to become the next Cupertino Poet Laureate?

KAECEY: I’m excited about the Poet Laureate movement that is gaining momentum around the United States, and I wanted to apply in part to support and be a part of this amazing collection of language artists who recognize the ability of poetry and expression to help us heal, help us grow, help us understand each other better.

In addition, I participated in current Poet Laureate Ann Muto’s poetry memoir workshops and was amazed at the positive impact they had on me personally and on my poetry. I couldn’t think of a better way to be involved with my community.

SCENE: What do you hope to accomplish in the next two years of your term?

KAECEY: First and foremost, I want to continue the good work of the Poet Laureates who came before me and who worked hard to bring the experience of poetry to the community. While I have specific ideas about programs, my overall goals are to help demonstrate the accessibility of poetry as well as the ways in which poetry can help make us better people. It doesn’t matter what your profession is, what subjects you excel at in school.

Poetry is a tool through which we can strengthen our creative muscles. It’s like cross training for the brain. And when you strengthen your creative muscles, every other area benefits from writing a different kind of code to the way we speak to the person in front of us in line. It is my hope to share with Cupertino the power poetry holds.

For more information, visit www.cupertino.org/poetlaureate.

---

Thanks After Las Vegas

by Kaecey McCormick

“Gratitude is the fairest blossom which springs from the soul.”
- Henry Ward Beecher

We sit on the cool rocks and watch the stars swing past the moon kicking up the dirt, dropping pixelated tears as they go. It’s seeing this with you against the silhouette of our grief: the burned dreams, the small mounds of dirt under too-large stones, our fingers reaching for each other’s in the dark.

Their laughter breaks through the glass of our memories turning our shroud to dust, tugging at our lips and pulling up the corners. They dry our eyes with handkerchiefs sewn from patchwork dresses dyed in kindergarten colors.

They join us and the mood shifts, floats us toward the harvest moon raises our eyes from the dead.

I’m watching you smile as you watch their joy and a quiet thrill grabs my throat because I know what we have though not enough is enough.

And my fingers as they stroke the soft flesh on the inside of your arm whisper thank you.
This month families throughout the nation will celebrate the Thanksgiving Day holiday. It is a time when we gather with family and friends to give thanks and reflect upon all the good things the year has brought. After enjoying large meals and festive gatherings, the day after Thanksgiving marks the first official day of the holiday shopping season.

Small Business Saturday was launched by American Express in 2010 to encourage holiday shoppers to patronize small and local brick and mortar businesses. Small businesses help shape our community character, strengthen economic vitality, as well as develop strong partnerships among neighbors, residents, other small business owners, community leaders, and schools. In fact, small businesses drive much of the United States economy.

How many small businesses are there in the United States you may be wondering? There are approximately 28 million small businesses, which accounts for 54% of all U.S. sales.

When you consider how many small businesses surround you in your everyday lives, it is inspiring to realize the amount of time, commitment, and labor these hard-working individuals put into making their businesses survive and thrive to serve you. As you may have personally experienced, many local businesses generously give back to our community through sponsorships and donations to local organizations, schools, and worthwhile causes.

Additionally, circulating money in the same locality helps our community thrive. When you shop locally, your money stays local, and it strengthens the local economy in many ways. Shopping locally creates new employment and job opportunities for people within the community. Studies show, locally-owned businesses employ more people per unit of sales, and retain more employees.

Furthermore, the expansion of local businesses helps create a more stable, recession resistant local economy. Cash flow for local businesses recirculates a greater share of every dollar, as they create locally owned supply chains and invest in their employees.

A strong network of local funds enables individuals and businesses within a community to support one another. Local businesses strengthen the city’s economic vitality and are an essential part of our community fabric, so why not show your appreciation by supporting local businesses and giving thanks to hardworking hands and generous hearts?

This year Small Business Saturday will be on Saturday, November 25. A special community celebration will be held throughout the Cupertino, including live entertainment, children’s activities, and discounts and giveaways by local businesses.

Visit the City of Cupertino website at www.cupertino.org/smallbusinesssaturday for more details and to check out its new “Shop & Dine Local” app.

For more information on businesses in Cupertino, visit www.InBusinessCupertino.com or contact Economic Development Manager Angela Tsui at angelat@cupertino.org.
GET IN THE CUPERTINO-know
What’s going on around town?

VTA MEETING ON 85 GUIDEWAY STUDY
VTA invites community input as part of the study
Nov. 13, 6 pm - 8 pm
Quinlan Community Center
10185 N. Stelling Road

REG NART C REEK TRAIL ‘WALKSHOP’
Saturday, November 18
10:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.
Access Gates @ Rodriguez Ave.
www.cupertino.org/bikeplan

Serve on a City Commission
Residents are encouraged to apply for multiple vacancies
Deadline: Jan. 12, 2018
cupertino.org/vacancies

Type II Diabetes Study
Stanford University
Volunteers needed to study effects of exercise on hemoglobin
More Information:
med.stanford.edu/discover.html
diabeticstudy@stanford.edu
November Food Feature
Wednesday, November 9, 6 to 7 p.m.
Cupertino Teen Center, 21111 Stevens Creek Boulevard
The Cupertino Teen Center will be featuring pizza from Pizza My Heart! Don’t miss out on getting your free snack. First come first serve, while supplies last.

West Coast Farmers Market
Every Friday, 10:00 a.m. – 2:00 p.m.
and Sunday 9:00 a.m. – 1:00 p.m.
Oaks Shopping Center
Stop by the West Coast Farmers Market every Friday and Sunday in the Oaks Shopping Center parking lot. For more information visit www.wcfma.org/cupertino.html.

Santa Clara County 2017 Heroes Run
Saturday, November 4, 8 a.m. – 12 p.m.
Civic Center, 10300 Torre Avenue
The Heroes Run is an annual event that includes a 5K run/walk, obstacle course, and kid’s fun run. The Heroes Run is produced by the Santa Clara County Sheriff’s Office, Santa Clara County Fire Department, Santa Clara Valley Medical Center, and the VMC Foundation. For more information visit www.heroesrunsc.com.

Veterans Day Ceremony
Saturday, November 11, 11:00 a.m.
Cupertino’s Memorial Park
This year our Veterans Day ceremony will commemorate the 11th year anniversary of the dedication of the Cupertino Veterans Memorial. Operation Red Wings was the catalyst for the design and placement for the Cupertino Veterans Memorial and subject of the book and movie, “Lone Survivor.”

Lynbrook Holiday Craft Faire
Saturday, November 18, 9 a.m.–4 p.m.
Lynbrook High, 1280 Johnson Avenue
The 37th annual Lynbrook Holiday Craft Faire will feature handcrafted items from over 100 vendors. It is the perfect place to find a gift for young and old alike.

Artificial Intelligence and Machine Learning Workshop
Wed., Nov. 29, 6:30 p.m. – 7:30 p.m.
Community Hall, 10350 Torre Avenue
Learn about the developing technologies of Artificial Intelligence and Machine learning - basic concepts, algorithms, applications and how to develop further expertise. Sign up at http://learn-ai.net.

Wreaths Across America
Saturday, December 16, 10:00 a.m.
Gate of Heaven Cemetery, 22555 Cristo Rey Drive
Each December on National Wreaths Across America Day, the mission of the organization to Remember, Honor and Teach is carried out by coordinating wreath-laying ceremonies at Arlington National Cemetery, as well as over 1,200 additional locations in all 50 U.S. states, at sea, and abroad.

SR2S Working Group Meeting
Tuesday, November 14, 4 p.m. – 5 p.m.
Cupertino City Hall, 10300 Torre Ave.
Cupertino is actively working to expand beyond its historical infrastructure and enforcement-approach to traffic safety by teaming with local school districts, schools, parents and students to form a Safe Routes 2 School program. Get involved today!

Regnart Creek Trail ‘Walkshop’
Sat., Nov. 18, 10:30 a.m. – 2:30 p.m.
Access Gates at Rodrigues Avenue
The City is working with HMH Engineers to prepare a feasibility study for a proposed trail along Regnart Creek. Join us on Saturday to walk the site and provide your input. We will have a morning and afternoon session. Come by when you can. For more details, visit www.cupertino.org/bikeplan.

Cupertino Library
For more information on library programs, visit the Events section of the Cupertino Library’s website at www.scc.org/cupertino.

Family Game Day
Wed., November 22, 11 a.m. – 5 p.m.
Cupertino Library Children’s Room
Enjoy all your favorite board games! Play with friends or make new friends.
ADULT PROGRAMS

Bay Breeze Chinese Chamber Music
Saturday, November 4, 3:00 p.m.
Cupertino Library Courtyard
Bay Breeze is an acoustic music group founded by a group of first generation Chinese immigrants who came to the US to study and work. The band, formed in 2009, composes its own music. With passion in music and deep connection with the Chinese culture, the band is touring Bay Area public libraries to share their thoughts with you.

How to Launch an Entertainment Startup
Sunday, November 12, 1:00 p.m.
Cupertino Community Hall
Join Star Trek writers and actors Sean Kenney, Gary Lockwood, Hana Hatae, Olivia D’Abo, and Marc Cushman as they discuss both Star Trek and their new entertainment project, Alien Cross.

Firebird Youth Chinese Orchestra
Saturday, November 18, 4:00 p.m.
Cupertino Community Hall
Firebird Youth Chinese Symphony is a unique Bay Area music group. Youth ages 11-18 learn to play both traditional Chinese and Western instruments and perform music from both traditions. Visit Cupertino Library for a free performance by these talented youth.

EVENTS & SOCIALS

Monthly Movie
Wed., Nov. 29, 1:30 p.m.-3:30 p.m.
This month’s movie is Gifted (2017). Members are free, senior guests pay $5 day pass.

Thanksgiving Lunch and Birthday Bash
Wednesday, November 15, 12 p.m.
Thanksgiving feast with roasted turkey, mashed potatoes, gravy, dressing, savory green beans, and pumpkin pie. The Rhythmaires Band will help celebrate the holiday with delightful music. Members with November birthdays will be honored. Members $12, senior guests add $5 day pass.

SOCIAL SERVICES

Housing
Monday, Nov. 6, 1:30 p.m.-3:30 p.m.
A list of housing resources and contact information are provided to help you search for housing. Call (408) 777-3150 to make an appointment.

Health Insurance Counseling (HICAP)
Nov. 6, 13, 27, 1:00 p.m.-3:00 p.m.
Consultation on Medicare and health insurance. Appointments: 408.777.3150.

Senior Adult Legal Aid (SALA)
Friday, November 3 & 17
10:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m.
Provides free assistance to elders for basic legal matters in public benefits, long-term care, elder abuse, housing, consumer issues, incapacity planning, probate alternative, and simple wills. Must be 60 or older and live in Santa Clara County. Please call (408) 777.3150 to make an appointment.
Q&A THE SCENE ANSWERS

Have questions for staff? Send them to scene@cupertino.org or call (408) 777-3212.

Question: I read that Cupertino’s minimum wage is going up again. Why is it increasing, what will it be, and who does it apply to?

Answer: Cupertino’s minimum wage will increase to $13.50 per hour effective January 1, 2018. The Cupertino City Council enacted Ordinance No. 2151 on October 4, 2016 that established a local minimum wage. This ordinance is part of a regional strategy to address affordability issues. The goal is to increase the minimum wage to $15.00 per hour by 2019, then tie it to inflation.

Council based its decision on a regional economic analysis, regional employer survey, and local input from businesses and residents. The economic analysis concluded that an increase to the minimum wage would significantly increase average earnings for low-wage workers and their families with relatively minor impacts to businesses and consumers.

Additionally, the employer survey showed that the majority of surveyed employers believed a minimum wage increase made sense given the high cost of living in Silicon Valley and agreed with a regional approach. Residents also supported the change and expressed a willingness to pay more for goods and services to help reduce income inequality.

Keep in mind that Cupertino businesses may need to increase prices due to the higher minimum wage. We encourage you to continue supporting our Cupertino businesses and employees by shopping local.

For more information, visit www.cupertino.org/wagewatch.

Jaqui Guzmán is the City of Cupertino’s Deputy City Manager. She oversees the Sustainability and Public Affairs divisions and manages legislative affairs and policy issues in the City Manager’s Office.