BE FLOOD READY, THE RAINY SEASON IS UPON US
I love this time of year! It reminds me to be more mindful of how fortunate I am.

Recently, I had a family event that brought this to the forefront of my thinking even more so than normal. My sister and I reconnected with my mother’s side of the family after 49 years of separation. On the one hand, it was sad in that we lost one auntie to cancer, but her passing reconnected the rest of the family. I am thankful for my family, my health, and where I live.

I also know how fortunate I am to work in such an amazing place as Cupertino. We have beautiful weather, great schools and library, and incredibly safe neighborhoods. Our focus on sustainable and environmental practices makes it enjoyable to drive into Cupertino, admiring the City’s tree canopy.

Trees might be one of the most underappreciated natural resources we have on this earth. That’s why I’m proud and thankful that Cupertino is forward thinking on this topic of sustainability. Check out our new app that can tell our homeowners how much the City trees in their front yards are worth. You can read it all on Page 5.

I’m also grateful for the launch of the City’s Community Shuttle program. The new on-demand shuttle service can take you anywhere you need to go in Cupertino. The vans even have bike racks! I’m a fan of anything that can help take cars off the road and put less pollutants in our air. Check it out on Page 8.

I think it’s natural to focus on those things that might not be going so well. Maybe there’s a problem we need to solve, or maybe we’ve had a misunderstanding. I think it’s important to step back at times and appreciate our progress and express gratitude for our lives.

I thank the community of Cupertino for the wonderful environment in which I work.

I hope you enjoy this issue.

City Council Joins Numerous Agencies in Opposing Termination of DACA

The Cupertino City Council, in a unanimous decision in October, joined numerous cities and counties opposing the termination of the Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals (DACA) program. The City Council did so to emphasize that this program protects migrants who arrived in the United States as innocent children and who are valuable members of our community.

The City of Cupertino signed a City and Counties amicus brief authored by the City of Los Angeles and Los Angeles County. An amicus brief is a legal document filed by non-litigants with a strong interest in the subject matter to advise the court of relevant and additional information, or arguments that the court might wish to consider. The case is currently pending before the U.S. Supreme Court.

The issue involves the Department of Homeland Security’s decision to rescind the DACA program. Under DACA, certain immigrants who were brought into the U.S. as children are temporarily protected from deportation and receive authorization to work and attend school in the U.S.

The City of Los Angeles and Los Angeles County previously prepared an amicus brief on behalf of 40 cities and counties, the National League of Cities, and the United States Conference of Mayors to support the plaintiffs/respondents in the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeal. That brief urged the Court to allow DACA to continue.

Your Driveway Could Help Keep Our Creeks Clean

Driveways can be an attractive architectural design asset and a welcome parking spot at the end of a long day. But that large area of “hardscape” was designed to channel rainwater right out to the gutter. From the gutter it is a short trip down the closest storm drain to the nearest creek, carrying your car’s oil leaks and brake dust with it. Ideally, rainwater would stay on your property, draining away from your house but soaking through the earth in your yard and getting naturally filtered on its way to replenishing groundwater.

If only water could soak right through your driveway. But wait, it can! “Pervious pavement” is designed to do just that. If you are planning to install a new driveway, consider using pervious concrete, porous asphalt, permeable pavers, permeable interlocking concrete pavers, or turf blocks, all of which allow water to soak through instead of running off. The process of installing permeable pavement may require extra prep work, so you will want to find trained installers.

To help inspire homeowners to consider pervious pavement options, the City of Cupertino now offers a rebate of $3.00 per square foot (up to $900 per residence). Invite your driveway to stop being part of the problem and start being a solution to recharging our groundwater and protecting our creeks from polluted runoff.

Email environmental@cupertino.org or call (408) 777-3236 for more information about the rebates, which are available as a result of Cupertino’s Clean Water and Storm Protection fee, which you can read about at cupertino.org/cleanwater.

What would you do if you found out there was something you could obtain that would clean your air, save you energy, reduce noise pollution, lower crime rates, and increase your home value? No, it’s not a miracle of technology, but the miraculous power of trees.

It’s well known that trees have environmental, economic, public health, and social benefits. But trees aren’t prone to boasting. They’re more like Mother Theresa than Kanye West.

This is where the City of Cupertino has stepped in to give voice to the City’s trees. Residents can now visit the new Tree Plotter application to view the benefits of individual City trees or the entire City-wide canopy. The app includes a tree’s overall monetary benefit, property value, runoff prevention, energy and natural gas savings, heat prevention, and air quality benefits among other factors. Residents can also check when a tree was planted, when it was last pruned, and its maintenance history.

The app is a partnership between the City’s GIS (Geography Information System) Division and Trees Division—a perfect marriage between technology and nature. The Trees Division is responsible for maintaining 20,654 City trees, including pruning, pest control, and planting.

Visit the Tree Plotter app at cupertino.org/trees.

Floods are one of the most common—and most destructive—natural hazards
The rainy season is upon us. While it's a natural part of the seasons, be aware that any rain event has the potential to cause flooding to creeks and ditches, along with neighborhood streets and homes. That means it’s time to make sure that you’re prepared for possible flooding. Some areas in Cupertino, such as properties along Calabazas Creek and Stevens Creek, are at increased risk.

The following tips will help to plan, prepare, and protect your family and home:

1. Make a family emergency plan and a three-day emergency kit
   Agree on a meeting spot and plan a safe route to higher ground. Put together an emergency kit with tools and supplies, non-perishable food and water.

2. Download disaster and emergency apps
   Download Santa Clara County’s emergency preparedness apps “ReadySCC” and “AlertSCC” on your smartphone.

3. Know your flood risk
   Visit FloodSmart.gov or call the Cupertino Public Works Department at 408-777-3354 to check whether your house is in a FEMA designated flood zone.

4. Do you need flood insurance?
   If you live in a FEMA designated special flood hazard area, and have a federally insured mortgage, you are required to insure your property from flood hazards. Even if you don’t live in an SFHA, you can get extra protection by purchasing flood insurance. To find a local agent, call (800) 427-4661.

5. Protect your home from flood threats
   The Santa Clara Valley Water District offers free filled sandbags. For additional details, visit valleywater.org/floodready.

6. Keep creeks clean and flowing
   Healthy, flowing creeks reduce flood risks by carrying storm water away from homes. Report blockages and dumping in creeks to the Santa Clara Valley Water District at (408) 630-2378 or (888) 510-5151.

7. Avoid floodwaters
   “Turn around, don’t drown.”

8. Build responsibly in floodplains
   Construction within SFHA zones has special requirements. Physical alterations to buildings can be made to reduce risks and flood insurance premiums, such as elevating a structure. Contact the Cupertino Public Works Floodplain Manager at 408-777-3354 first to ensure compliance with special requirements.

The following services are provided by the City of Cupertino to help residents prepare for potential flooding:

- City Maintenance Yard located at 10555 Mary Avenue offers loose sand and empty bags for self-filling. Be sure to bring a shovel, just in case.
- The Public Works Department possesses elevation certificates for many buildings located in the floodplain.
- Contact the Cupertino Building Department to get a permit before you build.
- City staff can assist with onsite flooding and drainage issues, and can provide you with practical drainage information. Call (408) 777-3354 to discuss your concerns.
- Other information on flood preparedness is available on the Cupertino website at cuerpertino.org/emergency, and on the Santa Clara Valley Water District Website at valleywater.org/floodready.

How we can work together to protect Cupertino from flooding

The City’s storm drainage system is composed of street gutters, storm drain inlets, and pipes that connect the to local creeks. This system drains street runoff into the creeks and channels on the valley floor.

Residents can assist the City and help protect immediate neighborhoods from localized flooding by sweeping gutters regularly, placing swept material in the garbage, and checking that nearby storm drain grates are not covered with leaves or litter. Residents should abide by street sweeping/no parking signs to allow the City to keep the gutters clean and the storm drain system flowing.

In the fall, before the rains start, City maintenance crews clean City storm drain inlets, and check for any evidence of hazardous materials in the drains. This cleaning prevents any illegally dumped materials that may be sitting in the inlets from washing into our creeks with the first rains.

It is illegal to dump anything into a creek or a storm drain. Residents can report dumping incidents to the City by calling (408) 777-3269 during business hours or 911 after hours and on weekends.

Please notify the City if you observe excess debris and trash in streams and ditches at (408) 777-3354 or cuerpertino.org/environmental. Requests for service can be submitted at www.cupertino.org/cupertino311.
The City of Cupertino is excited to introduce Via-Cupertino, an on-demand shuttle service providing transportation anywhere in Cupertino (and to Sunnyvale Caltrain!). The system features Mercedes Metris vans, each equipped with a bike rack and wheelchair accessibility.

On-Demand Transit

On-demand transit means no schedules or routes to remember. Instead, a van travels to you and takes you to your destination. After requesting a ride, the app shows the van’s location and wait time (usually 15 to 17 minutes). Riders walk a short distance to meet the van to make trips direct and fast. Once on-board, as you make your way to your destination, other riders board heading in the same direction. (Mobility impaired riders can request door-to-door service.)

Service Hours

Diabetes Awareness Month

November is National Diabetes Month, a time for individuals and health care professionals to raise awareness about preventing diabetes from developing, recognizing the symptoms of diabetes, and managing health while living with diabetes.

Diabetes is a chronic health condition that affects how your body turns food into energy. When you eat food, it is broken down into sugar and released into your bloodstream, which signals your pancreas to release insulin that lets the blood sugar into your body’s cells to use as energy. If you have diabetes, your body either doesn’t make enough insulin, or can’t use the insulin it makes the way it should. This causes too much blood sugar to stay in your bloodstream, which can lead to more serious health problems.

There are three main types of Diabetes: Type 1, Type 2, and Gestational Diabetes. In the United States, 30.3 million adults have diabetes, and 1 in 4 don’t know they have it. But for Asian Americans, that number is much higher—1 in 2, the highest of all ethnic/racial groups. Diabetes is the seventh leading cause of death in the United States, and the number one cause of kidney failure, lower-limb amputations, and adult blindness. Additionally, more than 84 million U.S. adults have prediabetes, and 90% of them don’t know they have it.

Symptoms of diabetes include frequent urination, extreme thirst or hunger, losing weight easily, blurred vision, numbness in the hands or feet, fatigue, very dry skin, sores that heal slowly, or having more infections than usual. If you are experiencing any of these symptoms, talk to your doctor about taking a blood sugar test.

Maintaining a healthy weight, eating healthy foods, regular exercise, and tracking your progress are the best ways to prevent developing Type 2 Diabetes, especially if you have prediabetes. Drinking water rather than sugary drinks, eating more fruits and vegetables, paying attention to food labels, and making time for recreation can help maintain healthy habits for your entire family.
