The City of Cupertino is committed to safeguarding community members of all ages as they navigate our diverse network of bikeways, roadways, and walkways. To ensure that we achieve this goal, we are actively working on expanding beyond the traditional infrastructure and enforcement approach to traffic safety. This unique approach has led to the creation of Cupertino Safe Routes to School, a program that brings together various stakeholders to address student safety throughout the City.

The City of Cupertino is localizing the larger National Safe Routes to School Program and mirroring effective model programs that have successfully reduced traffic accidents and increased the number of students who walk or bike to school. Studies show that as much as 30% of morning traffic can be generated by parents driving their children to school. This is problematic because traffic-related crashes are the leading cause of major injury for children ages 1 to 17. By attempting to shift the way that kids travel to and from school, Cupertino Safe Routes to School aims to make Cupertino a safer place for our students.

SR2S Goals

Cupertino Safe Routes to School strives to improve safety, reduce traffic, and increase the number of students who walk, roll, and carpool to school through the following strategies:

1. Increase motorist, pedestrian, and cyclist education for parents and students.
2. Encourage active transportation behaviors through various city-wide, district-wide, and school specific programs.
3. Study how students in Cupertino travel to and from school and use results that data to shape program objectives and inform decision making.
4. Add infrastructure to improve biking and walking conditions in Cupertino.
5. Collaborate with law enforcement to ensure that traffic laws are being enforced.
