New Recycling Services, continued from page 1

• Recology will provide each household or apartment unit with a free seal-tight pitcher, in which to accumulate food scraps until then residents can wrap them in a paper bag, newspaper, etc. and place them the yardwaste/organics bin.

• Residents in apartments, condominiums and townhomes will be given the same disposal services provided for single family homes. In November, pending acceptance by private property management, one 96-gallon bin for food/paper waste will be delivered to each complex to start gauging food waste collection needs. Property managers may call Recology for a free audit and customized service plan.

• Food waste, paper and cardboard food packaging will be collected from businesses, restaurants, and grocery stores for professional composting;

Compostable Materials include:

• Tree trimmings, shrubbery, dead plants, weeds, leaves, grass clippings (no soil)
• Food-soiled papers and paper napkins, towels, plates, tissue, cups, take-out containers, waxed cardboard and pizza boxes
• Meat products, bones, chicken, turkey, fish, beef, and pork
• Coffee grounds, tea leaves, paper coffee filters and tea bags (no nylon teabags)
• Dairy products
• Pasta products, bread and dough
• Fruit and vegetables
• Paperboard waxed milk cartons

• All residents who need to dispose of household cleaners, paint, fertilizers, fluorescent bulbs, thermometers, propane tanks, medicines, sharps, pool and spa chemicals and batteries (car and household), may contact Curbside Inc to set up free pickup for those items. Call 1.800.449.7587 or visit curbsideinc.com. Residents will be provided a 16-gallon bag and kit to ensure safe containment of hazardous waste. Sealed bags will be placed outside the home, safe from the weather (e.g., on a covered porch) for pickup and environmentally-safe disposal by Curbside Inc.

• Cooking oil, in a 1-gallon clear plastic container with a closed screw-top lid, will be collected on regularly scheduled residential service days.

Door to Door Soliciting

Knock, Knock. Who’s There?
Is it legal for a young man to stand on my porch and offer me a subscription to my favorite magazine? Is it okay for a youth organization to knock on my door and offer yummy cookies for sale? These are all great questions that most Cupertino residents have probably asked at one time or another. What are the rules about door to door soliciting and advertising? This short article will answer these questions.

Door to door or mobile soliciting is regulated by the Cupertino Municipal Code. Soliciting is divided into two categories: for-profit organizations and non-profit organizations.

Non-profit Organizations
Cupertino municipal code does not regulate groups or individuals soliciting on behalf of any religious, charitable, educational, or political organization. In most cases, these entities will have tax exempt status and be classified accordingly by the Internal Revenue Service and the California State Franchise Tax Board. Since these groups are by virtue of the Constitution exempt, no permit is required and adherence to provisions in the municipal code regulating time of day for soliciting do not apply.

For-profit Organizations
The municipal code provides regulation of individuals who solicit independently such as a realtor or as an employee or representative of a larger organization. Each individual person is required to have a valid solicitor permit issued by the Code Enforcement Division visibly displayed as they are engaged in their door to door sales. Below is a sample of a solicitor permit:

Solicitor permits are not issued to an organization; rather each solicitor must complete a city permit application and submit their fingerprints for a background examination prior to the permit being issued. With a valid permit in their possession, a solicitor can go door to door seven days per week between 9 am and 6 pm. Homes with signs clearly displayed reading “No Soliciting” or similar are off limits to for-profit soliciting.

How and When to Report Violations
Residents are encouraged to report instances of a person soliciting without a permit or other suspicious activity to the Santa Clara County Sheriff’s Department at 408-299-2311. Officers will respond to the area to locate the person and determine the nature of their activity.

For additional information or to inquire if a particular person has a for-profit solicitor permit, please contact the Code Enforcement Division at 408.777.3182. For inquiries concerning tax exempt, non-profit organization business license registration, please contact the Finance Division at 408.777.3221.

Learn To Play: Art Exhibition
Euphrat Museum of Art
The Euphrat Museum of Art is enjoying its brand new building, at the forefront of the new Visual and Performing Arts Center at De Anza College. The Euphrat’s fall exhibition, Learn to Play, features games that challenge us to look at who and what we are, or can be — so we can explore life directions driven by our choice and conscience. The exhibition offers a selection of poetic, artistic, and artful games by Indy game designers and others. Learn to Play runs from October 4 – November 24, 2010. There will be an artist reception on Tuesday, November 9, 5:30 - 8 pm. The games selected for the exhibition span the range from quick play to epic games requiring many hours to complete; they range from personal growth to those used for socially conscious purposes. Jason Rohrer’s Passage, for example, is a short lyrical game that gives participants a chance to live their life in 5 minutes. Learn to Play is also a challenge. People of all backgrounds are invited to experience and create games that express social and emotional relevance.

The Euphrat Museum is located at the NE corner of campus. It is open to the public Tuesday - Thursday, 11 am – 3 pm during exhibitions, with additional hours to tour groups by appointment. Its schedule of events includes night and weekend programs. For more information or events, check the Euphrat Museum of Art website www.deanza.edu/euphrat/ and learn.toplay.us or call 408.864.8836. Admission is free.

Citywide Emergency Exercise Summary

On October 16 there was a citywide exercise to test ourselves in case of an emergency.

There were a few things that we checked and you can help us with in the future.

• Did you receive a call from emergency notification system? If not please register on www.cupertino.org/alertscc. Signing up applies for residents, businesses, schools, churches etc.

• Asked everyone to go to their reporting site. There are six of them in the city. To find yours go to: www.cupertino.org/ARK

• Trained volunteers reported to their reporting site and opened up the container of emergency supplies for the responders. The responders are the Community Emergency Responders Team (CERT), Cupertino Amateur Radio Emergency Service (CARES), Medical Reserve, Block Leaders and Neighborhood Watch. Members of these volunteer organization’s members all receive free training. These groups become the eyes and ears of the community allowing the limited resources to be allocated to where they are most needed.

• This year we asked the entire city to participate using social media allowing everyone to become our eyes and ears. We asked for messages and photos to be sent from all over the city. If this medium is used, this can get information to City Hall quickly and reduce the need to send our limited sources out to check.

This year’s exercise was very successful. As our emergency teams work together we develop a more resilient community. One thing we learned is that we need everyone to understand their role in an emergency. Visit www.cupertino.org/emergency for more info.

Fall Showers: Prepare yourself and your home for the upcoming rainy season. The following months usually bring with them weeks of rain and wind. It’s a good idea to be pro-active towards taking steps to keep you and your home dry. The following are some tips to help keep things secure, dry and warm.

Tips for home storm safety

• Clear gutters of leaves, dirt and any obstructions so they will be able to direct water off your roof safely.

• Roll up newspaper in the appropriate diameter and wrap in small plastic bags to act as plugs to secure doors to the outside.

• Secure and seal off any electrical outlets exposed to the outside keeping them dry and covered.

• Know where and how to shut off natural gas in your home.

• Keep candles (that are enclosed in glass or safe container) on hand in case of power outages.

• If you live in an area that’s had past flooding, be sure to have spare sandbags ready before the storm season.

• Clear pathways of brush, branches or other obstacles in case you have to evacuate your home.

• Have an emergency kit with non-perishable food, water and other essential supplies appropriate for the season.

Upcoming Events

• PEP in November and January
• Kaleidoscope in February
• CERT in March/April

If you do only one thing to prepare this month…

Enroll in a Personal Preparedness, First-aid or CPR course. Visit the Cupertino Office of Emergency Services for more information regarding these and other important classes at: www.cupertino.org

Simply Safe is a monthly article provided to inform the community about emergency preparedness, training schedules and volunteer opportunities. Contact the Cupertino Office of Emergency Services (OES) at 408.777.3335, email OES@cupertino.org, or go to the website www.cupertino.org/emergency for more information.
'Tis the Thanksgiving season - that wonderful American holiday, rich in history from the earliest days of our country. The season recalls those who landed on these shores from afar and those who helped them survive the brutal weather and wilderness by showing them how to plant crops, fish and hunt. The story of America’s first Thanksgiving gathering of settlers and Native Americans deserves remembrance.

In thinking about the rich history of the season, bountifully laden tables and family gatherings are warm memories. For those newly arrived to America nowadays from distant lands, turkey may not be on the table, but there is one item that usually finds itself incorporated into most menus in one form or another — that wonderful, yellow accompaniment to many dishes — butter. Now in the “olden days” — in our household anyway, we received real butter only at holidays or maybe sometimes when company came for Sunday dinner. The rest of the time, margarine was on the table. During, and for some time after the war years, (in the 1940’s) margarine was a white, unappetizing glob. Mother would hand us kids a packet of coloring to mix into the glob — and voila! Fake butter!

In even earlier days, most farm families had a cow or some goats for milk and part of the cow’s milk got churned into butter and buttermilk. I have no recollection of goat’s milk being made into butter, but perhaps an old-timer can inform me about that. In the first grade, at the old Cupertino Union grammar school (where the Cupertino fire station sits now) one of the parents (Mr. Broughten on McClellan Road) brought a wooden butter churn and a few gallons of fresh milk to our classroom and all the children took turns pushing the churning paddle, until finally we had enough butter for each of us to spread on a saltine cracker. There was a little bit left over and the teacher said that whoever was extra good and quiet all day would get an extra cracker and butter. Yours truly was a veritable mouse the rest of the day and enjoyed a second helping. It tasted heavenly! I recall a story about a woman who somehow came into a huge amount of fresh cow’s milk and despaired over how to use it all. The family had just purchased an agitator washer and was one of the few families with electricity. She dumped about 40 gallons of milk into the washer and agitated enough butter for herself and most of the neighbors. The buttermilk went to the hogs. Very enterprising farm wife.

Putting butter into mold or presses was one of America’s earliest forms of folk art. Butter molds date from around 1650 A.D. and were often designed to show the European heritage of the family who used them. Many early patterns also had a symbolism attached to them, such as the Scottish thistle, which is symbolic of endurance and hardiness. Some other patterns that have been reproduced over the years include:

- Eagle — Aspirations
- Rose — Beauty and glory
- Shamrock — Luck
- Swan — Vigilance and bravery
- Acorn — Expansion, dependability
- Wheat — Abundance
- Heart — Love, affection
- Pelican — Generosity, sacrifice
- Anchor — Security, trust

Early American cooks prided themselves on turning out a fine table, with pats of butter molded into shapes and pressed with family heritage designs.

So for those modern cooks, who wish to incorporate a bit of early Americana into their Thanksgiving celebration, find yourself a butter mold or pattern and have some fun. Candy molds would work as well.

A very happy and blessed Thanksgiving to all in Cupertino!

Wood Burning Tips

The burning of wood in fireplaces and woodstoves is a major source of air pollution during the winter months. Wood fires contribute up to one-third of the particulate matter in the air on cold, still winter nights, which is a health concern especially for children, seniors and people with respiratory problems.

Here are a few tips on how to reduce the pollution in your neighborhood:

• Instead of wood, use manufactured fire logs (they burn 50% cleaner)
• If you burn wood, make sure it’s dried or “seasoned” for six to 12 months
• Never burn garbage or chemically-treated wood
• Consider switching to a gas fireplace (for the ambiance of a wood fire without the gases and the pollution)
• Don’t Burn Wood during Spare the Air Alerts
  • It is illegal to burn wood, firelogs or pellets in your fireplace, woodstove, or outdoor firepit on days for which the Air District issues a Spare the Air Alert.
  • Sign up for email and/or automatic phone alerts and find out if there is a Spare the Air Alert, by visiting www.sparetheair.org.

Treating Bed Bug Infestations

Consider environmentally preferred methods of getting rid of bed bugs, instead of using pesticides or insecticides. The city encourages prevention, integrated pest management, and non-chemical treatments such as the following:

• Check for bed bugs on luggage and clothes when returning home from a trip.
• Look for bugs on secondhand items before bringing them home.
• Vacuuming reduces bug populations. Change the bag after each use so bed bugs can’t escape.
• Wash and dry bedding and clothing at high temperatures to kill bed bugs. Heat infested articles and/or areas through to at least 113 ºF (45 ºC) for 1 hour. The higher the temperature, the shorter the time needed to kill bed bugs.
• Use mattress, box spring, and pillow encasements to trap bed bugs and help detect infestations.
• If pesticide treatment is needed, it is best to bring in a professional. If you hire an expert, ensure it is company with a reputable history and ask them to use an IPM approach www.epa.gov/oppfead1/Publications/Cit_Guide/citguide.pdf.
On America Recycles Day, November 15, millions of people will learn about recycling, commit to increasing their recycling activities, and plan to purchase more products made from recycled materials. America Recycles Day reminds Americans of our nation’s bountiful resources and of our personal responsibility as stewards to care for those resources. Where we cannot prevent or reduce waste, we want to find ways to recycle. When shopping, we want to seek environmentally preferable products, including those with recycled content and less packaging.

In the spirit of America Recycles Day, the following are some things you can do to make a difference for the environment:

Reduce
- When shopping, avoid over-packaged goods, buy in bulk if possible and only buy what you need.

Reuse
- Avoid single-use throwaway products when a durable, reusable alternative is available.
- Donate things so somebody else can use them. Bring your own Reusable Bag when shopping. One reusable shopping bag can replace hundreds of single use bags over its lifetime.

Recycle
- Buy more recycled content products.
- Increase recycling efforts at home, school and work.

Rethink
- Your attitude, your actions, can make a world of difference. Let’s each do our part. Almost everything can be recycled or composted, except the planet.

Visit the Recycling Hotline at www.recyclestuff.org. For Cupertino recycling programs, visit the City’s website at www.cupertino.org/environmental, and click on recycling.
