Get Your Lederhosen
Before you turn up the oom-pah and join this party, here’s a bit of history about the event. The first Oktoberfest was not really a festival at all, but the public celebration of the wedding of Crown Prince Ludwig and Princess Therese of Bavaria on October 17, 1810. Held on a large meadow in Munich, the party featured a horse race, food, music and dancing.

Although we can’t supply the horses this year, the Rotary Club of Cupertino has turned this traditional German event into a multicultural celebration. This event offers something for everyone!

The two-day event managed by Rotary volunteers offers a chance to experience German culture, live entertainment, and a wide variety of food and beverages. Highlighted this year, is the new Holiday Lane for those early Holiday shoppers. The event also features over 100 artists and craftspeople demonstrating their craft and selling their wares and a Kinderplatz play-area for the kids.

Oktoberfest takes place from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturday, October 11th and from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Sunday, October 12th at Memorial Park, across from De Anza College. Admission is free and parking is free at the De Anza College parking structure next to the Flint Center and in student Lot A. Proceeds from Oktoberfest benefit local Cupertino charitable organizations. For more information please contact Barbara Juhl at 408.738.1710 or exjfa@aol.com.

October 8 is Walk to School Day

by the Cupertino Bicycle Pedestrian Commission

Walk your child to school. Local schools, parents, and teachers will be joining schools from around the country and the world to celebrate Walk to School Day on Wednesday, October 8, 2003. This is the seventh year this national event has been held and the fourth year internationally. More than 600,000 parents, kids, and community leaders from 49 U.S. states are expected to participate. Several CUSD schools participated last year.

The idea is to walk to school together with a purpose - to promote personal and community health, safety, and concern for the environment. California’s Parent-Teacher Association, California Highway Patrol, California’s Office of Traffic Safety, and the American Academy of Pediatricians endorse it. In addition, 70% of the public supports local, state, and federal funds “to ensure the safety of children to walk or ride bicycles to school.”

Walking to school has many positive effects. It will help reinforce children’s good traffic safety skills, remind adults to drive safely in school zones, and promote regular physical activity for children. It will also decrease neighborhood traffic in and around schools.

To learn more about California’s Walk to School program, or to plan your own event, visit the official web site at http://www.cawalktoschool.com.
Simply Safe

Prevent Home Fires

By Leslie Martin

Cooking fires are the number one cause of home injuries. Cigarettes are the number one cause of home fire deaths. But the stove and cigarettes aren’t the only potential fire hazards in your house.

October is Fire Prevention Month, and a good time to check your home for fire safety by following these tips:

- Maintain working smoke detectors on every level of your home. Test smoke detectors monthly. For hard-to-reach units, use a broom handle or stick to press the test button. Replace unit batteries once a year. Use daylight savings time as your reminder: Change your clocks—change your batteries.

- Make a family home escape plan that includes two exits per room and an outside meeting place. Conduct a family escape drill at least twice a year.

- Store matches and lighters out of reach of children, and teach children how to report emergencies by calling 9-1-1.

- Store flammable liquids in tightly closed metal containers and keep them and combustibles away from heat sources (candles, water and space heaters).

- Place candles in sturdy noncombustible holders. Never leave burning candles unattended.

- When cooking, keep pot handles turned in to prevent burn injuries and keep dishtowels and oven mitts away from stove burners.

- Use ashtrays that have a center support. Let ashes thoroughly cool before emptying into trash receptacle.

- Inspect electrical cords and appliances each year.

- Schedule a professional to inspect and clean the chimney once a year.

Congratulations to the 130 CERT members from Cupertino, Saratoga, Campbell and Los Gatos/Monte Sereno who took part in the disaster drill and graduation at DeAnza College on August 16. Cupertino now has over 500 trained CERT members. Your next opportunity to enroll in this valuable emergency preparedness training is January.

2004 CERT Session #1 (Three Friday Nights, Three Saturday Mornings)

January 16, 23, 30, 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. 17, 24, 31, 9 a.m. to Noon.

CPR (Adult, Infant & Child) Training Cost is $10 per person

November 1 (Saturday): 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

If you do only one thing to prepare this month: Install smoke detectors. Test them monthly and replace the batteries annually.

To register for classes or request additional information: Click the “Emergency Preparedness” link at www.cupertino.org, or call Cupertino OES at 408-777-3335. Registration forms are also available at the Library, Quinlan Center, and City Hall.

De Anza College Parking

by De Anza’s Marketing/Communications Office

Mom always said, “You have to take the good with the bad,” and De Anza College is no exception. The good news is that we’re expanding and improving our facilities at a level unprecedented since our campus was established in 1967. The bad news is that all the change is causing some growing pains in the parking department.

Much of the discomfort can be alleviated by the parking plans we have in place for this fall, including reconfigured parking lots, a free shuttle service and special car pool parking for faculty, staff and students. Add a new parking structure to the mix by the end of the school year, and we’re feeling a little better already.

All of De Anza’s current parking facilities were open when fall quarter classes began on September 22. The reconfiguration of Parking Lots A and B, located at the corner of Stevens Creek Boulevard and Stelling Road, provided about 370 more spaces for faculty, staff and students.

Construction on the new parking structure in Lot C, just south of the Peppertree entrance, is slated to begin in mid-November, which means that lot will be closed for about 9 months. Once construction is completed, we’ll go from 2,487 spaces in Lots A, B and C to 3,479.

Lot C is where our well-known Flea Market has been located for more than 25 years, but the popular monthly event will relocate to Lots A and B.

De Anza has reconfigured the Peppertree Lane entrance and added 110 diagonal parking spaces along the perimeter road between the Peppertree and McClellan entrances, with one-way driving along that corner of campus. Watch for directional signs when entering at either of those points, especially for vehicles entering campus on McClellan, which will be a left turn only.

Another parking remedy we’ll be bringing back is our free shuttle service, an expanded edition. The No Fuss Bus for students, faculty and staff will have two drop-off and pickup points on campus. One will shuttle riders between Vallco Fashion Plaza and the Flint Parking Structure. The other will run from Results Way (off Bubb Road, across Highway 85 and west of campus) to the Seminar Building. Shuttles will be accessible to the disabled, and all off-campus parking requires a De Anza parking permit. For updated information, check out www.deanza.edu/parking.

New this fall quarter is special carpool permits for faculty, staff and students. There are 30 designated spaces in the Flint Parking Structure for faculty and staff, and 50 spaces in Parking Lot A for student car pools.

De Anza is encouraging all our faculty, staff and students to consider using other alternatives for getting to campus, including public transit, walking or biking. We think they’ll make you feel better too.

Fees Go Up at De Anza

De Anza College continues to offer high-quality instruction at affordable rates despite California’s large budget deficit. Fees have risen from $7 to $12 a quarter unit since the governor signed the state budget. Fall quarter began Sept. 22. Go to www.deanza.edu to review course offerings and to find out about applying to the college and registering for classes online.

Don’t Feed the Ducks

The city of Cupertino continues to wage a losing battle to keep the pond at Memorial Park clean. As Autumn begins, please remember the following reasons not to feed the ducks.

Public Health Risk: Each bird produces a pound of feces per day. Duck feces and its potential salmonella content, are a public health risk.

Non-Migration: Waterfowl migrate to search for food and a more moderate climate. Feeding encourages waterfowl to remain due to abundant feeding, causing overpopulation.

Water Quality: The accumulation of waste matter in the pond lowers oxygen levels and creates unpleasant odors greatly reducing the water quality in the pond.

Avian Diseases: Crowded conditions support the transmission of disease, primarily duck viral enteritis, fowl cholera and botulism.

Physical Damage: Due to the large number of waterfowl, some lawns and shrubs have been sheared to the roots. The paths, picnic tables and seating have been contaminated with feces.

Cupertino
Cuisine: Garlic
By Hema Kundargi

If it was the laboratory and not Mother Nature who created garlic, then perhaps it would have been a very expensive prescription drug. Numerous Medical studies have shown that garlic can lower cholesterol, prevent dangerous blood clots, reduce blood pressure, prevent cancer, and protect against bacterial and fungal infections. Garlic, also called the stinking rose, for its unmistakable pungent aroma, is either loved or hated. Garlic is one of the most widely used ingredients in the world. When garlic is baked or cooked, it develops a sweet nutty mellow flavor. When using raw garlic an easy rule of thumb to remember is the smaller you cut, the stronger the flavor. Chopping finely or pressing a clove releases more surface to the air, causing a chemical reaction to produce a strong aroma.

Gilroy has been hosting the Garlic festival for twenty-five years. It is a fun and fragrant experience. The three-day event smells up the neighborhood with plenty of food, live entertainment, art and crafts, and food contests. I was surprised to find fascinating food like garlic pepper steak, garlic fries, garlic scones, garlic ice cream, garlic crackers, garlic chocolate, garlic brownies and more. Definitely a fun and fragrant experience.

Many complain about garlic breath after eating garlic. A very simple solution is to make everyone around you eat garlic thus everyone smells of garlic and no one will mind the odor.

Garlic scented Cabbage Rice

My friend, Rekha Marathe, makes this unique garlic flavored rice.
1 teaspoon oil
3 cloves garlic
2 cloves
2 1/2 cups shredded cabbage
1/4 cup carrot grated
1 cup rice
1/4 teaspoon turmeric
1 teaspoon lime juice
1/2 teaspoon sugar
1 teaspoon salt
2 1/2 cups boiling water
Wash the rice in water and drain. Keep aside.

Heat a thick-bottomed pan. Add oil, then garlic and cloves and stir for 1 minute. Next, add the rice, cabbage, carrot, and stir-fry for 30 seconds. Add water, lime juice, salt, sugar, and turmeric. Cook on high heat for 5 minutes. Lower the heat and place a tight fitting lid. Cook on low heat for 5 minutes. Turn off the heat and do not disturb the pot for next five minutes. The steam will finish the process of cooking.

Out at the mailbox one day, neighbor Dave Gray said, “neighbor Bill Rowan has an old photo he’d like you to see.” The photograph turned out to be a wonderful, large panorama of a 1929 gathering of the Mission Merchants Association (San Francisco Mission St.) taken at the Stevens Creek Trout Farm.

Before Stevens Creek Dam was built in the 1930's, the meandering creek supported several small, family owned swim and recreational resorts as it wound its way down from the foothills to the baylands. The largest of these resorts was the Stevens Creek Trout Farm at the present site of the dam.

The interesting photograph prompted further research at local libraries and historical societies. The following description of the Trout Farm is an excerpt from a 1916 article in the Mountain View Register newspaper.

"One of the interesting places of Santa Clara County is the Stevens Creek Trout Farm, eight miles southwest of Mountain View, on the Stevens Creek, in the foothills of the Santa Cruz Mountains. The farm is located among the scenery of the hills and is reached by a good road which makes a most attractive drive for the autoist, where nature is at its best and one feels that he is outside the beaten paths, though really but a short distance from the improved tracts of the valley.

The farm was established five years ago by Mr. F.N. Pfeifer who still conducts it. After getting his work started, the unprecedented dry seasons of 1912 and 1913 caused a temporary suspension of operations through lack of water, but with the return of normal conditions the work was resumed two years ago and is now on the high road to success.

Rainbow trout are specially propagated and the hatchery has a capacity for 250,000 fish, that number now being in its tanks. At the age of about three months, the fish are transferred to larger tanks where they grow to maturity, being ready for the market at one to two years old. Marketing is done through shipping to the larger cities of the state and to anglers who visit the farm and delight in catching their own fish from the large tanks provided for that purpose. The latter is a new feature not found in many fish farms and is proving most attractive, for here the fisherman may cast his line assured of a prompt catch and unhampered by any limit law, may fill his hamper to his heart's content.” (Trout fishing purists among the readership may cringe at this practice - author note) “It is a favorite resort of people from San Francisco and other nearby cities who find a trip to the farm and a catch of fine fish most enjoyable.

Water for the operation of the farm is taken from the pure mountain stream, conducted by gravity and gives a flow of 800 gallons of fresh water per minute. This excellent water supply has much to do with the successful results achieved. Mr. Pfeifer has made a thorough study of the business and knows how to entertain his visitors in a way to make for the pleasure and which means that the farm will continue to be one of the attractions of the county.” The large photograph also shows canvas tents in the background, so there may have been overnight accommodations at the resort. One old newspaper account describes the road to the Trout Farm as “just a little way above the Father’s Villa” (Villa Maria was the large retreat, orchards, vineyards and winery operation established by the Jesuits of Santa Clara University on the land where Stevens Creek County park now sits, just before the dam) Another paragraph recalls a barbecue held at the Trout Farm by the Native Sons of the Golden West. Gagliasso family history also places an ancestor, Marguerite Lora Gagliasso, as an owner of the Trout Farm, after the death of her husband in the early 1900’s. It would be interesting to know how many early valley settlers owned the property over the years, but that research is for another day.

If there are any old timers that have memories or photographs of this resort, please contact the Cupertino Historical Museum at 408-973-1495.

Gathering at the Crossroads

The Cupertino Historical Society & Museum will meet on October 28, for the lecture series, Gathering at the Crossroads. The event will feature a slide show presentation by the Juana Briones Heritage Foundation. The daughter of a member of the DeAnza expedition, Juana Briones was born in 1802, near Polin Springs on the San Francisco Presidio. Following a separation from her husband in 1844, this independent woman purchased the 4,400 acres Rancho la Purisma Concepcion. This land today is Los Altos Hills. All that remains of her vast estate today is her historic home. As the oldest house in Palo Alto, it is the only example of rammed earth construction in Santa Clara County.

The evening begins with a potluck at 6:30 p.m. Please bring your own service and a dish to share. The presentation begins at 7:30 p.m. in the Cupertino Room inside the Quinlan Community Center, 10185 N. Stelling Road. The lecture is $3 for nonmembers and free to members. For more information, please call 408-973.1495.

City Channel 26 Begins Weekend Programming

Cupertino was the first city in Silicon Valley to have a government channel. Taking advantage of the boom in cable programming, a more accessible means of keeping track of local government had been created. The fact was then, and is still now, that most people have neither the time, nor inclination, to come down to city hall to attend meetings. A scientific survey in 2002, found that over 40 percent of Cupertino residents have watched the City Channel. The services of this important information resource have continued to evolve to meet changing community demands.

While only half of all residents subscribe to cable television, 91 percent indicate they have Internet access from home. Last year, a video archive and live webcasting of city council meetings were made available. Beginning the first weekend of October, the City Channel will begin its first-ever, weekend programming.

“In the past, staffing costs have prevented a longer broadcast schedule,” said Pete Coglianese, Program Director for the City Channel. Initial weekend programming will be rebroadcasts of the previous Monday’s city council or planning commission meeting. Soon thereafter, the weekend schedule will expand with other programs. Currently on the schedule are programs produced by PBS, the California Channel, and other locally originated shows.

The City Channel is available online at www.cupertino.org, or to Comcast subscribers in Cupertino, on channel 26.

The Better Part

The Better Part, produced by and for seniors, on cable channel 15. Check www.kmvt15.org for broadcast times.
