Performances Saturday and Sunday evenings at 7:30pm in Cupertino’s beautiful Memorial Park. July 15, 16, 22, 23, 29, and 30

A shipwreck at sea strands the magician Prospero, the exiled Duke of Milan, on a strangely magical island. With the help of the spirit Ariel, Prospero’s daughter--Miranda falls in love with Prince Ferdinand. Meanwhile, Prospero’s monstrous servant Caliban conspires with the court clown, with hilarious results. In the end, with the help of much magic, Prospero’s Dukedom is restored, enemies are forgiven, and Ariel is set free.

Cupertino teams up with the San Francisco Shakespeare Festival to present the 11th season of Free Shakespeare in Memorial Park. Please bring the family to enjoy a free evening of great entertainment under the stars!

July 4th is here again! Time for parades and barbecues, picnics and speeches and FIREWORKS! In the earlier days, July 4th or Independence Day, as it was often called, celebrated the birth of our country as the United States of America, after the adoption of the Declaration of Independence from Britain on July 4, 1776. Every schoolchild learned about George Washington, Paul Revere, John Adams the Minutemen and the brave soldiers of the Revolutionary War who overcame superior numbers and persevered until the war was over in 1783 and the colonies no longer belonged to King George.

Philadelphia was the capital of the U.S. then; it was the home of the Supreme Court, as well as the Congress, and the justices of the court rode on a horse-drawn float shaped like a giant eagle. The eagle was adopted as our national bird in 1782, after long debates. Some felt that the eagle had been a symbol of kings and empires and was not suitable for a new, young democracy. Benjamin Franklin suggested a turkey, because it was native to America, but in the end the bald eagle was chosen because it was found only in North America and unknown in Europe.

Our first national flag was raised on a hill near Boston on Jan. 4, 1776, by troops serving under General Washington.

The United States flag has always been important to people in America and has a special meaning in wartime. On July 4, 1862, Northern soldiers being held as prisoners of war in Richmond, Virginia, wanted to celebrate the holiday, but they had no flag. They secretly made one from a pair of blue flannel trousers and a piece of red cloth. They used a white shirt for the stars and stripes. They raised the homemade flag above their barracks early on the morning of July 4th and it waved for almost an hour before the prison guards saw it and made the soldiers take it down.

The Liberty Bell is one of the best-known symbols of American independence. The original bell was called the State House Bell, since it had been ordered for the new State House in Philadelphia from England in 1752. Before the bell was to be raised to the top of the State House tower, people wanted to hear it ring, so the bell ringer stepped up and swung the heavy clapper. The bell sounded a deep BONG! But almost at once a crack split the rim and raced up the side of the bell. The bell was broken down in pieces and recast two more times before it could be rung properly.

The bell was hidden from the British in 1777 and rung when General Cornwallis of Great Britain surrendered to George Washington at Yorktown in 1781. It rang again when the U.S. signed a peace treaty with Britain in 1783 and rang over and over when the U.S. Constitution was adopted in 1788. Of all the symbols of Fourth of July, fireworks are the most spectacular. People in China, the Near East and Europe have been celebrating with fireworks for more than 600 years. Not everyone in the new America was happy with fireworks. In the 1890’s, the “Society for the Suppression of Unnecessary Noise” was founded in a futile attempt to outlaw fireworks near public buildings.

Even though some states have outlawed the sale of fireworks to the public, everywhere on the Fourth of July are wonderful nighttime displays, set off by experts, for people to come and see in a safe place.

In our community of Cupertino, July 4th celebrations were small in the early days before many people lived in the area. People would travel to San Jose to see the fireworks and hear the music at Spartan Stadium in San Jose.

Then Cupertino began to hold its own celebrations. This year, fireworks will be launched from Cupertino High School.

Happy Fourth of July, everyone!
The Citywide Garage Sale Is Coming

Cupertino’s annual Citywide Garage Sale will be held September 23 and 24 at individual homes and other private locations within the city, and in neighboring unincorporated areas. The city is inviting residents and community organizations to register, and will provide free advertising, and a garage sale “how-to” kit, for all registered sellers. Sale participants manage their own garage sales and keep the profits. There is no fee to participate.

All participants can register on-line at the city’s website, www.cupertino.org (click on “Garage Sale”) starting August 14th. Call after that day, 777-3354, if you do not have access to computer sign-up. The last day to register to get on the city’s official list is September 8th. The “how-to” kit and accompanying information will also be available on the web. The completed list and map of all registered sales will be published on the city’s website the week before the garage sale or pick one up at city hall, Quinlan community center, the library or senior center. The city’s goal in sponsoring the Cupertino Citywide Garage Sale is to prevent usable items from being thrown away, when they can be re-used by someone else—and to have some fun!

Toxics Date Set: August 26th

The County-wide Household Hazardous Waste Program will be holding a disposal event in Cupertino on Saturday, August 26th. The Program is available to residents. The event is conveniently timed to help residents dispose of unwanted, potentially hazardous materials that they discover while getting ready for our September Citywide Garage Sale.

Typical materials that are brought in include: latex and oil-based paint, solvents, toxic cleaners, pesticides, batteries (car and household), mercury thermometers, old pool care products, motor oil, antifreeze and other car fluids, fluorescent tubes and bulbs, hobby chemicals, and photo developing chemicals. Call 299-7300 for an appointment and more information.

Best Ways to Spare the Air

In the Bay Area, the summer air pollution “sea- son” usually runs from June to October. During this period, the Bay Area may experience several days with high levels of ozone, which can be unhealthy for children, the elderly, and people who exercise outdoors. On high pollution days, the Bay Area Air Quality Management District issues Spare the Air notices to the public, asking them to voluntarily refrain from polluting activities. Listen for these notices on the radio or TV, or check their website at www.sparetheair.org. Here are a few ways you can Spare the Air.

- Drive less; cars are the major source of air pollution in the Bay Area. Carpool to work a few days, or even one day a week.
- Refuel in the evening and never top off. Putting gas into your vehicle releases Volatile Organic Compounds (VOCs) into the air. Throughout the day, these VOCs mix with oxides of nitrogen (NOx) in the air, “cook” in the summer heat, and form ground-level ozone. Refueling in the evening decreases the opportunity for VOCs to form into ozone.
- Avoid consumer spray products. In the Bay Area, 50 tons per day of pollution come from spray products. These aerosol products include hairspray, furniture polish, cooking sprays, bathroom cleaners, air fresheners, antiperspirants, insecticides, and hobby craft sprays.
- Use water-based paints. Oil-based paints and varnishes contain a high percentage of VOCs that evaporate into the atmosphere and create smog.
- It’s OK to barbecue, but don’t use lighter fluid.
- Do your garden chores gasoline-free. On Spare the Air days, don’t use gasoline-powered equipment like mowers, leaf blowers and chain saws.

Safe Needle and Syringe Disposal

Anyone using needles and syringes regularly should know how to dispose of them safely, and free of charge. Pick up a red, commercial biohazard sharps container at your local pharmacy. It’s recommended that you call first to verify in-store availability. Once the container is three-quarters full with needles, permanently seal it shut. Then call (408) 299-7300 to make an appointment to drop-off the filled container. Correctly disposing of your sharps containers through the Countywide Household Hazardous Waste program will help protect yourself, your family, waste haulers, and the environment.

Waste Reduction Awards Program

The application period for the Waste Reduction Awards Program (WRAP) is open and continues through August 31, 2006. The awards program, administered by the California Integrated Waste Management Board, provides an opportunity for California businesses to gain public recognition for their outstanding efforts to reduce waste. Applicants do not compete by type or size of business, but are judged based on individual merit. Award winners receive authority to use the WRAP winner logo with their products, advertising, and business Web sites to publicize waste reduction efforts. Any California business that has taken effective measures to reduce the amount of waste it generates may apply. Businesses are asked to provide information about the steps they are taking to reduce waste in their daily business operations. For an application and additional information visit the WRAP website at http://www.ciwmnb.ca.gov/WRAP/.

TECHNOLOGY INFORMATION & COMMUNICATION COMMISSION
By Charles Ahern, Commissioner
Do you reminisce about the days of rotary-dial telephones with party lines and black & white televisions? Or are you excited about the potential of 3G wireless, VoIP, e-Government, WiMax, and plasma HDTV? Here in the heart of Silicon Valley, the residents and businesses of Cupertino experience the turbulence of rapid technological innovation. This turbulence can be both unsettling and exhilarating. To help the city of Cupertino cope with this change, the Technology, Information, and Communications Commission (TICC) has evolved from the Telecommunications Commission.

As codified in the recently revised municipal code, the TICC “Advises the City Council and City Manager on all matters relating to technology, information and communications within the city of Cupertino.” While this charter appears broad, in important areas the TICC must work within legal and regulatory limitations. The U.S. Congress responded to the desire of the telecommunications and cable television industries for national legislation to replace a patchwork of state laws and city ordinances. The Federal Communications Commission then specified and enforces regulations to implement the legislations passed by Congress. As a result, local government has almost no influence over cable television pricing or the quality of cellular phone service.

TICC works to inform Cupertino about the technological and governmental issues we face and to help improve the services provided to residents and businesses by the city and commercial service providers.

WEEDS

Summer is a great time for block parties – and getting to know your neighbors. Need something to talk about? How does your neighborhood rate? See how well your neighborhood would fare if an earthquake happened tomorrow...

1. Do you know when your neighbors are out of town or on vacation?
2. If they were gone and their home was damaged, do you have a way to contact them? Do you have an out of area contact for them in case local phone service is unavailable?
3. Do you know where your neighbor’s gas shutoff valve is kept and how/when to shut off the gas to their home?
4. Do you know who may pick up the neighbor’s children from school if the parents are injured or out of town?
5. Is there someone living near you who knows first aid and could offer assistance to you or your neighbors?
6. Do any of your neighbors have medical conditions that could be adversely affected by a power outage? (Medications that need refrigeration? Life support equipment that needs electricity?) Is there a backup plan?
7. Do you know your neighbors’ pets and how to care for them?
8. Do any of your neighbors have mobility, vision or other conditions that could mean they might need extra assistance after an earthquake?

If you know your neighbors this well, you get an A+. Neighbors who have emergency plans to care for each other will be able to manage any disaster.

If you don’t know your neighbors...become a Block Leader and help build a strong, stable community!

What kind? Where to buy? Etc.

For a sweltering summer afternoon in July, what is more fun than bringing your grandchildren to the Senior Center for unlimited amounts of ice cream? For our Grandparents and Me event on July 19, we will serve root beer floats, ice cream cones, and sundaes galore. Eat to your tummy’s desire. Live piano music will entertain you. Bring a camera for the best shots of your grandchildren enjoying the cool confection.

The cost is $3 for center member and $2 for each child.

The Senior Center will be hosting a free Hawaiian concert by ukulele legend Henry Kaleialoha Allen on Tuesday August 8. He is a singer, composer, jazz guitarist and Master Artist of the Hawaiian Steel guitar. This event is open to the community. Join us for an afternoon of Hawaiian lyrics.

Cheery Comfort Foods

Last week I was down with a bad case of flu. I instantly reached for my edible security blanket. The special food, which makes me feel cozy, calms me down and convinces my insides that everything is going to be all right. This edible security blanket is simply Comfort food. Food that slips down your alimentary canal with a relaxed, “Aaahhh.” The same sound that your feet make, (if only you could hear them), when you kick off the slippers for your bathroom slippers, and feel at home again.

There is a universal connection to comfort food eaten all around the world. It’s all to do with food that slips down the throat easily, that doesn’t require much cutting or chewing. Hot, nourishing, something you can slurp. The immediate answer to a runny nose and a bout of homesickness. For an American it would be macaroni and cheese, for a Scottish it would be oatmeal and dotted cream, and for an Indian it would be Rice and bean porridge Kitchadi.

Kitchadi is the special food, which transports me to another time, another me, and brings back emotions of warmth and caring. Every time anyone in our family came down with cold or cough my grandma would make this rice and bean porridge. She would carefully grind the spices and make this humble dish, which had unique healing powers. The yellow split bean are very easy to digest and quick cooking. This humble dish, which had unique healing powers.

Here is my grandma’s version of the humble Kitchadi:

1-cup rice
1/2 teaspoon turmeric powder
3/4 cup split yellow moong beans
1-tablespoon limejuice
1-teaspoon ginger paste
1-teaspoon brown sugar
1-teaspoon cumin seed or jaggery
1-teaspoon whole black pepper
5-cups boiling water
1 garlic clove (chopped)
Salt to taste

Wash the rice and bean mix and drain in a colander. Make a coarse mix of cumin, black pepper in a spice grinder (or Coffee grinder used only for spices) In a thick-bottomed pot add all ingredients except limejuice.

Cook on high heat for 5 minutes, without any lid. Add limejuice and lower heat. Cover the pot with a tight fitting lid and cook for 15 minutes on low heat. Remove from heat but do not remove lid for next 10 minutes. The steam will finish the process of cooking. Garnish with chopped carrots and Serve with a dollop of ghee.

Comfort food is basically a taste memory of childhood. When I was growing up in India, I loved to read books written by Enid Blyton. She was as popular as J K Rowling is now. Enid Blyton wrote adventure and mystery series. Some of my favorite books written by Enid Blyton were Famous Five, Secret Seven, and Malory towers. The most charming part of these series was the kids would solve mysteries and have fun adventures with a lot of the wonderful food. The treacle pudding, trifle puddings, scones, would mesmerize me, marble cakes these adventurers would eat.

My mother, being a strict vegetarian would never cook these foods at home, as all these recipes called for eggs.

Once I was very sick and I refused to eat Kitchadi that she had made for me. I insisted on having creamy tomato soup and croutons just like the kids in Enid Blyton series. I felt like royalty getting soup in bed. (One of the rare occasions when my mother gave into my tantrum) Here is my mother’s version of creamy tomato soup without any cream. (My mother was not very fond of cream)

1-16 oz chopped tomato can
1-inch ginger
1-tablespoon peanuts
1 green chili
1-tablespoon coconut
Salt and pepper to taste

Make a paste of peanuts, coconut, ginger and chili with 1/4 cup water.

Add chopped tomatoes to make a smooth puree. Add the tomato mix with 2 cups of water and boil for 3-5 minutes. Add salt and pepper and serve piping hot with crouton.

There are some days, so bad, so stressful, and so overwhelming, that there is not a friend on this Earth, not a backbruck on the planet that could unknot your neck muscles. It is on days like these I turn to food for comfort. I vividly remember when I was in seventh grade, my friend and I, had been, unfairly singled out in our class as troublemakers. We had to run an extra mile at lunch break. That evening I went to my friend’s house and we moaned and groaned about how unfair life was. Her older sister who was had just come back from college, got tired of hearing us whine.

She made this aromatic cream of wheat pudding to help heal our bruised ego. It is no wonder that when the going gets tough, we turn to foods that remind us of happy times in our youth! So whether you’re nursing a bruised ego, a broken heart or a common cold, it’s comfort food that comes to the rescue. This special pudding always calms me down and helps me put things in perspective.

1-cup cream of wheat
1/3-cup ghee or unsalted butter
4 to 5 cloves
1-cup sugar

Heat ghee or butter in a pan. Add cloves and wait until it puffs up. Add cream of wheat and roast for 10 minutes on low heat. Keep aside. In a pot add milk and saffron and stir vigorously to remove any lumps. Cover and cook for 5 minutes on low heat. Add sugar and mix well. Cover the lid again and let the steam finish the process of cooking. Discard the peel of cardamom and make a coarse mix of the seeds. Finally, add almond powder and cardamom powder and mix well. Garnish with dried cranberries and serve piping hot.
