Cupertino Poet Laureate 2016, Where Are You?
The Poet Laureate Selection Committee is on the lookout for applicants for the position of Cupertino Poet Laureate. The person selected will serve from January 2016 – December 2017, the third in the City to officially promote the multiple aspects of poetry to Cupertino’s diverse population. Jennifer Swanton Brown is currently serving as Cupertino Poet Laureate, as did David Denny before her.

Through personal presentations and hosted educational events, the Poet Laureate will introduce youth and adults to the benefits of personal and community expression, calling attention to the City, its incredible variety of cultures, and its history. Cupertino’s Library will continue to host poetry events, as will other locations, throughout the year.

Applicants must have resided or worked in Cupertino for at least 2 consecutive years, or have ‘demonstrable ties’ to Cupertino. The applicant must be published or been recognized as a poet, and be at least 21 years old. Folks with disabilities and candidates fluent in languages in addition to English, are encouraged to apply, though poem samples must be submitted in English.

Application is available online at cupertino.org/poeta laureate or pick up an application at the City Hall, Cupertino Public Library, Quinlan Community Center, Senior Center or De Anza College. For more information, contact poetlaureate@cupertino.org. Applications are due to City Hall by 5 pm, July 10, 2015. Interviews will be in late July.

Setting criteria, publicizing, interviewing and recommending candidates to the City Council falls to the Cupertino Poet Laureate Selection Committee. The members are Ann Stevenson from the Cupertino Library Commission; Kathy Stakey, The Friends of the Cupertino Library; Deborah Vanni, English Teacher in the Fremont Union High School District; Jennifer Swanton Brown, current Poet Laureate; Dave Denny, past Poet Laureate; Pushpa MacFarlane, area educator; Beverly Lenihan, Cupertino Library Foundation; Adrian Kolb, community leader.
Safety while Camping and Hiking
No matter where you go in the wilderness, in a state national park or just in a local park, there are bound to be hazards. If you follow simple common-sense rules you can stay fit, enjoy the tranquility and views and keep safe. While hiking use these simple rules:

• Always hike in good footwear. For local parks where there is a well maintained path, sneakers are fine. In any steep, root bare, rocky or slippery paths a good pair of hiking shoes or boots is a necessity. Sandals may be nice for the beach, but not in the wilderness.

• Bring plenty of fresh water for your hike or camping trip. The rule is one-gallon of water per person per day. You may need more in hot weather. There are some easy to carry water purifiers you can use if your route takes you near streams or rivers.

• Always hike or camp with a buddy or group and let someone who is not with you know where you are going and when you are expected to return.

• Carry a small first aid kit, matches or lighter, a whistle, a knife and a flashlight with extra batteries. These may save your life if you get hurt or lost.

• Remember to protect yourself with the necessities such as a hat, sunscreen, extra socks, and a poncho or raingear if needed.

• Stay on established trails and bring a map or GPS unit. Remember, the GPS on your phone may work but the map may not be able to be displayed without a signal. Bring along a map with GPS coordinates if possible. There are apps which load the area into the phone prior to hiking. Look into acquiring one of those if you go way out of the coverage area.

• Bring along a few plastic garbage bags to cart out any debris you have. A small one for hiking or a larger one for camping.

• Know the park rules regarding pets, cutting and gathering firewood, dealing with animals, etc. Remember to leave the trails and sites the way you found them.

• When camping always build your campfire in a designated area and keep a 15 foot perimeter around it for safety and to prevent a wildfire. Keep a bucket of water or a shovel near the fire to put out a fire which has gotten out of control. Extinguish all fires thoroughly before going to bed or leaving the site.

• Check and repair any camping equipment prior to your departure.

Wildlife and Hazards of Concern in California
Although rare, black bears, mountain lions, and rattlesnakes may be seen in California parks. Learn the types of wildlife to expect in the area by calling the ranger station or searching the web. Learn to identify poisonous snakes and spiders that may be found in the area, and know first aid treatment in the unlikely event a bite occurs. If camping overnight, know what precautions to take to protect your food and equipment from bears and other animals (day or night).

If poison oak is likely to be present in the area you visit, plan ahead by adding a topical poison oak treatment or soap to your equipment. Poison oak is a common plant throughout much of California. Learn to identify its shiny, three-leaf pattern and avoid touching it. If you touch poison oak, wash immediately with water and mild soap. Pat dry with a clean towel.

The next two PEP classes are: June 2, 6 - 9 pm, Campbell Community Center, 1 W. Campbell Ave, Campbell and July 23, 6 - 9 pm, Cupertino City Hall, 10300 Torre Ave, Cupertino. If you do only one thing to prepare this month:

Check out and repair your hiking and camping equipment before you go in the wilderness.
Cupertino’s late Louis Paviso and his wife, Violet (Monty) were among a group of young people in the 1920’s and 30’s, who built or bought old, barely airworthy planes and flew them around the Bay Area, landing in any old hayfield, meadow or small, private airstrip. As Louis said, “after Lindbergh flew the Atlantic, everyone wanted to fly.”

Johnny Johnston, a former Army flier, was a daredevil who walked on wings, climbed from one plane to another, shot movies from the air and dangled a rope ladder over a speeding car on White Road to permit another stunt man to climb into Johnston’s plane. His most famous stunt was an “aerial funeral.” When his mechanic, Charles J. Adams, died, Johnston strapped his casket to the top of his fuselage and flew it into a grassy, undeveloped part of Oak Hill Cemetery, then taxied up to the prepared grave. (Johnston died in 1932 at age 34, a passenger in a mail plane attempting to land in Burbank)

Former San Jose City Historian, the late Clyde Arbuckle, helped a couple of friends start the Pennington Todd School of Flying in a berry field where Santa Clara Civic Center is now. Thayer Todd taught a Palo Alto High school student, Bill Clayton, to fly and after about an hour and a half Todd “walked the wing” while Clayton flew the plane. Arbuckle recalled getting parts for one of the Flying School’s planes. They put the undercarriage on the bumper of Pennington’s car, the wing panel on top and tied the propeller on the side. After repairing the plane, pilot Justin Dice flew, with no altimeter and no compass, and in a heavy overcast, to Paso Robles where they picked up more gas from a Standard Oil truck that drove out to refuel them in a field. The adventure ended after Dyche performed some Immelmanns (half loops to an upside down position, then half rolls to normal flight position) and as the plane came in over Pismo Beach, it went nose down in six feet of water.

Louis’ wife, Violet, was the only woman in the flying class at San Jose Technical High School and could weld a fuselage out of aircraft tubing. Then they built the wings and put material on them. Violet also flew gliders, qualifying for her license at age 19. A flying club grew out of the S.J. Tech School classes. The club used the Curtner Ranch in the Milpitas Foothills as its glider launching site. “We used to shoot ’em off with shock cords,” Paviso said. “Two guys would (take the ends of the elastic cords and) run out and another guy would hold the tail. When they figured they couldn’t go any farther, they’d shout and he’d let go.” Paviso said he landed one of the planes they built in the Bonita Avenue field before it became Reid-Hillview Airport. He broke a crankshaft and made a turn over Five Wounds Church to set the plane down in the field. Others in the flying club were not so fortunate and died in different accidents over the years. Louis and Violet, along with Louis’ sisters, Henrietta Marcotte and Catherine Gasich, lived and worked in the Cupertino area for most of their lives and were active in many Cupertino organizations and clubs. After all his flying adventures, Louis had the Cupertino auto repair garage, next to the Donut Wheel on old Highway 9 (now De Anza Blvd).

Backyard composting how-to on June 27
Join neighbors for a free home composting workshop and learn how to turn your kitchen scraps into nutritious compost for your garden! Compost not only feeds your plants but helps your soil hold more moisture. And it helps you reduce household waste! The workshop will be held at the Creekside Park Building, 10455 Miller Ave in Cupertino, Saturday, June 27, 10 am - 12 pm. If you can’t attend this workshop, consider attending another class in Santa Clara County – register online for workshops in Cupertino and Countywide at reducetrain.org/classes. Cupertino residents attending a compost workshop will receive one free compost bin per household.

Contact environment@cupertino.org after attending a class to receive your bin. For more information on eco-friendly gardening beyond composting, visit bayareaecogardening.org.

Spare the air this summer!
During the summer the Bay Area experiences some days with high levels of ozone, which can be unhealthy for children, the elderly, and people who exercise outdoors. On high pollution days, the Bay Area Air Quality Management District issues Spare the Air notices, asking people to voluntarily refrain from activities that pollute the air. There’s a lot we can do to “spare the air,” for example:
• Drive less. Cars are the major source of air pollution in the Bay Area. Carpool to work a few days, or even one day a week. Try to combine trips – your car emits more pollution right after a cold start and the fewer trips you make the less your car will run.
• Refuel in the evening and never top off. Putting gas into your vehicle releases Volatile Organic Compounds (VOCs) into the air. Throughout the day, these VOCs mix with oxides of nitrogen (NOx) in the air, “cook” in the summer heat, and form ground-level ozone. Refueling in the evening decreases the opportunity for VOCs to form into ozone.
• Avoid aerosol spray products. In the Bay Area, 45 tons per day of air pollution come from chemicals in aerosol sprays. These products include hairspray, furniture polish, cooking sprays, bathroom cleaners, air fresheners, antiperspirants, insecticides, and hobby craft sprays.
• Use water-based paints. Oil-based paints and varnishes contain a high percentage of VOCs that evaporate into the atmosphere and create smog.
• Don’t use lighter fluid. Barbeque with other means.
• Garden without gasoline. On Spare the Air days, don’t use gasoline-powered equipment like mowers, leaf blowers and chain saws. Residents and businesses can sign up for Spare the Air email alerts and/or phone alerts so you’ll always be informed. To check if there is a Spare the Air Alert, visit sparetheair.org.

Need to Drain Your Pool?
Please be aware of steps that must be taken to protect Cupertino’s creeks!
Don’t drain pool water to the street! If you do, the water will flow into a storm drain, and straight into one of Cupertino’s creeks without treatment. The chlorine and pool chemicals in pool water are a threat to aquatic creatures in the creeks—so draining into the gutter is prohibited by City ordinance.

Pool water must be pumped into the home’s sanitary sewer “clean-out.” Before a pool is drained, the pool owner or the pool technician should call the Cupertino Sanitary District at 408.253.7071. District staff can provide assistance in finding the home’s “clean-out” and answer questions about the appropriate pumping flow rate and technique, and the right time of day to drain the pool. To obtain a brochure to guide you through the pool draining process, call 408.777.3354 or pick one up at City Hall.

Challenge yourself to a zero waste summer!

See if your family can up your summer fun by challenging yourself to find ways to reduce your household waste. Below are some ways you can use the four R’s to get started:

Reduce, Reuse, Recycle, and Rethink!

- Buy only what you need – a lot of waste is created to manufacture the products we buy. Pay special attention to perishable items (like food) or products that expire – you’re throwing away a lot of resources beyond an unused product.
- Plan meals for the week before going to the grocery store, so you know exactly what you need and how you will use leftover ingredients.
- Compost kitchen waste and food-soiled paper products – all you need to do is put them in your brown yard waste cart instead of your trash cart to keep it out of the landfill.
- Choose items with less packaging, buy in bulk if practical, or choose products that come packaged in recyclable materials.
- Replace single-use disposable items with reusable ones where practical. Paper and plastic tableware, paper towels and napkins, plastic bags, bottled water, single-use batteries, and many more items are easily replaceable with a multi-use counterpart. Get creative to see how many alternatives you can find for single-use items in your home!
- Purchase materials with recycled content, like paper or plastic products. Reusing old material to make new products helps keep it out of the landfill and conserves resources.
- Keep a tray of printing mistakes or other waste paper to use as scratch paper for jotting down notes to self, grocery lists, etc.
- Reuse boxes, envelopes, and packing material for your own mailings.
- Borrow, rent, or share items that are used infrequently, such as tools.
- Buy used products like clothes, furniture, books, and countless other items, to conserve resources (and save money!).
- Donate unwanted but usable items instead of throwing them away. See cupertino.org/environmental for a list of donation agencies.
- Recycle all clean paper, plastics (regardless of number in recycling symbol), metal, and glass in your blue recycling cart. Properly recycle by emptying liquids out of bottles, jars, and containers into a sanitary drain.
- Rethink how an item might be used for another purpose before throwing it out. For example, an old t-shirt makes a great cleaning rag or paper towel substitute, and newspaper or other waste paper can be used to wrap your kitchen scraps destined for your yard waste cart. Use your creativity to repurpose items to reduce purchase of new products and reduce your waste!

Four-Cities Coordinated Stevens Creek Trail Feasibility Study

Monday, June 1, 2015, 6:30 - 9:30 pm at Cupertino Community Hall

The Stevens Creek Trail Joint Cities Feasibility Study seeks to provide a comprehensive Study to the City Councils of Sunnyvale, Cupertino, Los Altos, and Mountain View. The Study will identify feasible alternatives and will assist the four cities to select and coordinate a preferred alternative for future completion of a multi-use trail in the Stevens Creek corridor. The draft feasibility study is now available for public review and comment at www.sunnyvale.ca.gov. Click on “Stevens Creek Trail Connection” under the Featured Projects section.

A meeting is scheduled in Cupertino on Monday, June 1, 2015, 6:30 - 9:30 pm at Cupertino Community Hall, 10350 Torre Avenue for the public to learn more about the study and to provide input. Please submit public comments regarding this study via email to `sctfeasibilitystudy@sunnyvale.ca.gov`. Written comments may also be mailed to City of Sunnyvale, Attn.: Public Works - SCT, 456 W. Olive Avenue, Sunnyvale, CA 94086.
